MINUTEMEN ARE PRAISED HIGHLY AFTER REVIEW

Adams county's company of Minutemen, lauded by official guests for the fine appearance they presented in their retreat ceremony and review at Sheffer's (formerly Geiman's) park along the Biglerville road Sunday afternoon, were specially praised for their plans to continue an active organization until victory.

The Minutemen paraded before Col. John E. Shade, representative of the state commander of the Pennsylvania State Guard Reserve, and Mrs. Shade; Judge and Mrs. W. C. Sheely, and the Adams county commissioners and their chief clerk and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Boyd, Quintin D. Rebert, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Smith.

The review and retreat were the features of the company's picnic for its members and their families. About 175 persons attended.

Promise Support

Colonel Shade congratulated the county unit upon its fine appearance and praised them for the "way in which you've done the job you were carefully selected to do." He made special mention of the fact that the company is one of the comparative few in the state that have continued as an active unit after the initial threat of enemy action here dimmed.

Judge Sheely told the men that Adams county is proud of their organization and of its record. He also commented favorably upon the unit's appearance and drill work. He referred to the unit's organization in March of 1943 and of its "fine progress" since that time.

The commissioners stated their willingness to "stand back" of the company with full support of its activities for the duration of the war.

The unit's commander, Capt. C. Arthur Brame, was in charge of the unit for the afternoon's parade.

Enjoy Contests

Members were urged to report at the armory here Friday evening at 8 o'clock when a new series of maneuvers intended to continue until late fall will be opened. The company now has 93 active members.

During the afternoon games and contests for all provided entertainment. There were two ball games, each won by the men of the second platoon. The winning platoon was captained by David Alwine. George Bushman headed the team of the first platoon. There was a peanut scramble for the youngsters and horseshoe pitching.

At 5:30 o'clock Clord Shetter served the picnicers their evening meal which included ham, baked beans, weiners, potato salad, tomatoes, ice cream, chocolate milk and ice tea.

Armored Jaws Of Pincers Only 16 Miles Of Closing

By GLADWIN HILL

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 14 (AP)—A ring of American, British and Canadian forces, spurred by Gen. Eisenhower's declaration that they can score their greatest victory in the west, drove in furiously today for the destruction of the cream of German forces in northwestern Europe.

Caught in an almost complete trap in Normandy, approximately 100,000 Germans—a fourth of the entire force with which the Allies have come in contact since D-Day—fought a confused, grueling battle under a sky filled with Allied planes.

The Nazis were trying to escape the jaws of a pincers which were within 16 miles of closing.

Mighty Allied Trap Is Sprung

The trap was sprung, it was disclosed after five days of secrecy shrouded operations west of Paris, when powerful American armored and infantry spearheads sweeping in a 250-mile arc through Le Mans, converged upon the German flank and rear in a sudden twist to the north. This swing took the Americans through Alencon, Sees and Argentan, only 16 miles south of the Canadian First Army five miles above Falaise.

Now the American armored "hammer" was beating the Germans against the Canadian-British "anvil" below Caen.

Field Marshal Guenther Von Kluge's defense of France south of the Seine appeared doomed as his forces squirmed under frightful punishment to pull out through the suddenly narrowed gap.

Nearly All Escape Roads Are Cut

Practically all his escape roads toward the Seine were cut. Allied air forces were pounding on every movement of the Germans, wrecking hundreds of locomotives and thousands of rail cars. Not a single wagon or bicycle was immune from attack from the swarms of aircraft which buzzed over the battle area in endless processions.

Roads that remained open were under Allied shellfire, and it appeared that only new German armies could stem the Normandy tide.

However, Von Kluge already had drawn on 40 of the 60 or 65 divisions he was believed to have had in France at the start of the invasion. British staff officers yesterday said the Allies already had contacted 40 divisions.

Home From War

T. Sergeant James H. Harness, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Harness, Steinwehr avenue, wounded on the Anzio beachhead in Italy, returned to Gettysburg on Saturday on a week-end pass from the Tilton General hospital, at Fort Dix, N. J., to which he was transferred after reaching Richmond, Va., last week from overseas. He returned to the hospital on Sunday.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN KIMPLE SUNDAY NIGHT

John Kimple, 87, died at his home, 218 Chambersburg street, Sunday evening at 8:05 o'clock following an illness of 11 months as the result of a fall September 17, 1943. He had been bedfast since that time.

The deceased was born in Franklin township, a son of the late Theodore and Helen (Miltner) Kimple, and lived all of his life in Adams county. He attended Sheely's school here and taught school for several years. Later he was engaged in various business enterprises in Gettysburg and Adams county. He was proprietor of a liquor store here for many years.

Mr. Kimple was a member of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, the Holy Name society and a charter member and former trustee of the Gettysburg Lodge of Elks.

Surviving are three children, Mrs. Maude K. Averbuch, at home; Mrs. Josephine Wisotzky, San Diego, California, and C. J. Kimple, Eliza-bethtown; one brother, Theodore, Gettysburg; three sisters, Miss Catherine Kimple, Franklin township; Mrs. George Kane, Franklin township, and Miss Jennie S. Kimple, Gettysburg; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral Wednesday

Funeral services Wednesday morning, meeting at the Bender funeral home at 8:30 o'clock with a requiem mass at 9 o'clock at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church conducted by the Rev. Mark E. Stock. Interment in St. Ignace Catholic cemetery, Buchanan Valley.

Friends may call Tuesday evening after 7 o'clock at the funeral home. Members of the Holy Name society are asked to meet at the church Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock from where they will go to the funeral home in a body.

42-YEAR HEAT RECORDS SET OVER WEEKEND

Shattering 42-year records for the respective dates here over the week-end, the mercury rose to a high of 101 degrees here and made Sunday night one of the hottest of the season.

After hitting 100 degrees last Friday afternoon, the temperature climbed to a new season's high of 101 degrees Saturday afternoon. Sunday's maximum was 98 degrees. At 1 o'clock this afternoon the temperature was 91 degrees with a light breeze bringing relief to those whom it reached. Higher humidity, however, offset any relief that might have accompanied the slightly lower thermometer readings.

Freak Shower

At Gettysburg weather station the week-end high also was 101 degrees but it was recorded Sunday. Saturday's high there was 99 degrees. This afternoon at 1 o'clock the temperature there was 93 degrees. Upper countians however are enjoying cooler nights than a freak five-minute shower here Gettysburgians for every night over the week-end the mercury dropped to 68 degrees or lower.

Sunday afternoon brought no relief from the heat but rather added to the humidity.

MRS. EARL KIME EXPIRES TODAY

Mrs. Gladys L. Kime, 30, wife of Earl W. Kime, Biglerville R. 1, died at her home this morning at 2:30 o'clock from a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Kime was born in New York city, a daughter of Mrs. Alice (Smith) Terryberry and the late Clarence Terryberry. She moved to Adams county 16 years ago.

Surviving are her husband; one daughter, Janet, at home; one step-daughter, Mrs. Frank Holstine, at home, and her mother, Mrs. Terryberry, Biglerville R. 1.

Funeral services from the Roussong-Dugan funeral home, Bendersville, Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. H. O. Sipe. Interment in Bender's church cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

GIVEN CLUSTER FOR AIR MEDAL

An Eighth AAF Bomber Station, England (By Mail)—An Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal has been awarded Sgt. Francis A. Rider, 241 Baltimore street, Gettysburg, for "meritorious achievement" on B-17 Flying Fortress bombing attacks on enemy Europe.

A waist gunner, he is a veteran of 12 combat missions. The citation accompanying the award read in part: "The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this enlisted man upon these occasions reflect great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Sergeant Rider, 21 years old, a graduate of Gettysburg high school in 1941, was an aircraft mechanic at Olmsted Field, Midfield, before entering the Army February 1, 1943. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Allen P. Rider.

Birth Announcements

Daughters were born at the Warner hospital this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Krazetz, Gettysburg R. 1, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Levan, Gettysburg R. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Olson, 224 East Middle street, announce the birth of a son at the hospital Sunday.

No Relief Promised

(By The Associated Press)—Hot and humid—that's the weather forecast for today.

The weatherman's only note of optimism for heat-weary Pennsylvanians was "few afternoon and evening thundershowers" in some portions of the state.

The latest heat wave reached new heights yesterday when the mercury sizzled to the 100 mark in Harrisburg and Reading. In other parts of the state these marks were set: Philadelphia, 95; Allentown, 97.4; Wilkes-Barre, 99; Lancaster, 93, and Scranton, 98.

A freak summer storm at York caused considerable damage but failed to drop the temperatures which stood at 88 over the week-end.

Hamburg and Birdsboro reported a water shortage.

Symphony Hour To Be Held Tonight

The Gettysburg Summer Symphony hour will be held this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the rear of Glatfelter hall on the college campus.

Included on the program will be the following: "The Star Spangled Banner"; "Eine Feste Burg" arranged by Stokowski; "Fugue in G Minor"; Bach; "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik"; Mozart; "Nocturne"; Fets; Debussy; "The Wasps, Overture"; Vaughan-Williams, and "Ballets Dances," Borodin.

The public is invited to attend.

"Let No German Escape"

Advanced Command Post In Normandy, Aug. 14 (AP)—Text of General Dwight D. Eisenhower's order of the day:

"Allied soldiers, sailors and airmen: "Through your combined skill, valor and fortitude you have created in France a fleeting but definite opportunity for a major Allied victory, one whose realization will mean notable progress toward the final downfall of our enemy.

"In the past I have, in a moment of unusual significance, made special appeals to Allied forces it has been my honor to command. Without exception the response has been unstinting and the result beyond my expectations.

"Because the victory we can now achieve is infinitely greater than any it has so far been possible to accomplish in the west and because this opportunity may be grasped only through the utmost in zeal and determination and speedy action I make my present appeal to you more urgent than ever before.

"I request every airman to make it his direct responsibility that the enemy is blasted unceasingly by day and by night and is denied safety either in flight or in flight.

"I request every sailor to make sure that no part of the hostile forces can either escape or be reinforced by sea, and that our comrades on land want nothing that guns and ships and ship companies can bring to them.

"I request every soldier to go forward to his assigned objective with the determination that the enemy can survive only through surrender; let no foot of ground once gained be relinquished, nor single German escape through a line once established.

"With all of us resolutely performing our special tasks, we can make this week a momentous one in the history of this war—a brilliant and fruitful week for us, a fateful one for the ambitions of Nazi tyrants.

"DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER"

Meanwhile, there still was no news of any Allied operations east of Le Mans toward Paris, nor from the spearhead which crossed the Loire three days ago and struck southward 100 miles.

The Allied trap, 20 or more miles deep, was 100 miles west of Paris, but it seemed unlikely von Kluge's shattered forces could put up any further defense, on an effective scale, of the 20,000 square mile area through which the American whirlwind had swept in the past three weeks.

In the Vire area the Allies gained up to three miles, although the Germans displayed stubborn resistance around Mortain. This sector is along the western portion of the enemy line and in the area from which the Germans tried unsuccessfully a week ago to split the Allies in Normandy and Brittany.

Fly 5,500 Sorties

American columns pushing eastward have established a bridgehead between Domfront, 23 miles east, and slightly south of Mortain, and Mayenne, 20 miles south of Domfront.

Allied planes flew about 5,500 sorties yesterday in support of the great entrapment move.

A front dispatch said the Nazis were retreating down every open road, using everything from military

Reds Closing In For Full Drive To Take East Prussia

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Aug. 14 (AP)—The zero hour for an all-out Soviet assault on East Prussia appeared to be approaching rapidly today as Russian armies massed in a great threatening arc before the borders of that German province.

Russian units to the south were 15 to 17 miles from the East Prussian frontier, while to the east other Soviet forces were seven to 10 miles away and to the north from 30 to 35 miles.

Red Army forces apparently striving to rip Nazi defenses in East Prussia wide open from the south, threatened the enemy stronghold of Lomza, vital communications center that links embattled Warsaw with the Junker province.

Evacuate Oswiec

Seek Cars In HIT-RUN CASES

State police at the local substation are seeking two cars involved in hit-and-run accidents in eastern Adams county over the week-end. So far as is known no one was injured in either mishap and damage was minor.

Pvt. George J. Evanko was called out Sunday morning to investigate a collision which took place shortly after midnight two miles north of Abbotstown on the East Berlin road when Charles A. Orwig, Dover R. 2, was in the act of passing another car. The other machine suddenly swerved to the left Orwig said, and the cars' bumpers locked while the machines traveled about 300 feet.

As the cars pulled apart Orwig's auto ran off the highway and over a culvert while the other machine continued on its way. Police are without any satisfactory description of the missing car.

The other crash occurred Friday night about 10:30 o'clock on the Hanover-New Oxford road but was not reported until nearly noon Saturday. Paul Neiderer, Hanover, reported that his car was sideswiped as he drove north and that the other machine did not stop. He said the hit-and-run motorist was driving a green convertible. A Buick hucap found at the scene is another clue. Damage to the Neiderer car was estimated at about $40.

Pvt. Harold Sheads is investigating.

Arrive Overseas

Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman, New Oxford, received word that their son, Cpl. William Sherman, has arrived safely in England.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Never again will we boast about our mosquitoes. We thought they were the biggest, fastest and toughest bred. But Private George F. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Edwards, Harrisburg road, who is now serving in New Guinea, has come forth with a new challenge.

Private Edwards claims the mosquitoes in New Guinea are the champs. For proof he submits the following:

"In a recent issue of The Times your 'Good Evening' read 'We challenge anyone to produce bigger and tougher mosquitoes than we have.'

"I am sorry that I cannot send you one of these larger New Guinea mosquitos because postal authorities do not permit packages that large to go through the mail.

"In all my time I have never seen such feats of strength as the mosquitos perform down here. As for myself I have a small one that I have trained to dog-rob for me. Although it is getting out of hand I have to bribe it with such things as cigarettes from our K rations (Please Turn to Page 5)

Lt. J.F. Reaser
Rescued With Lost Battalion
After 5 Days

By WES GALLAGHER
On the Mortain Sector, France, Aug. 12 (AP)—American Long Tom 155's delivering life instead of death, fired shells filled with blood plasma, morphine and sulfa drugs to a "lost battalion" fighting on a hill behind German lines before it was relieved.

For five days the battalion of an American infantry division fought behind enemy lines, causing great havoc and refusing two demands to surrender from Hitler's prize SS troops. They were supplied by food in "dive-bombing" by P-47 Thunderbolts, and with medical supplies by Long Tom artillery shells.

In Line 40 Days
The battalion was part of a division which has been in the line more than 40 days. Although tired, it bore the brunt of an attack by more than four Nazi armored divisions, standing firm even when battalion and regimental command posts were overrun and switchboard operators had to use bazookas to drive off the enemy.

The battalion command directed artillery fire on German positions, and the infuriated Germans retaliated with mortar fire and a renewed counter-attack. But the battalion held.

Yesterday during daylight the Germans, striving desperately to withdraw, took to a road with a large convoy of tanks and guns. The lost battalion on the hill spotted the column, called on artillery, and every American gun along that sector of the front rained shells down while the battalion corrected their fire.

Outfit Rescued
The total destruction of the column was told in these words by an observer on the fading radio:

"Tired as we are and hungry as we are, there is not a man who is not happy as can be at the sight."
Late today a regiment fought its way to the battalion position, opening up a relief route.

While the problem of feeding the battalion was solved from the air, getting medical supplies there was a different question.

This was solved when someone thought of taking smoke shells, cutting out the insides, packing medical supplies in cotton and firing them to the hilltop with 155's from miles back.

The battalion reported all except the morphine arrived in good shape, even to the blood plasma in glass containers. Some of the morphine was too battered for use.

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
With an American Infantry Battalion Near Mortain, France, Aug. 12 (AP)—This battalion was rescued this afternoon after being cut off by the Germans for five and one-half days on an ear-shaped hill just east of Mortain.

The Germans had repeatedly demanded that the battalion surrender, but at the blackest hour, on Wednesday night, the Captain in command sent this message back to the crack SS troops surrounding his force:

"I will surrender when every one of our bullets has been fired and every one of our bayonets is sticking in a German belly."
The captain was R. A. Kerley. He told about it tonight after a relief regiment had cut its way to the battalion's isolated position.

"They Had Nerve"
The captain stood gaunt and black-bearded against the wall of an old stable that now is the battalion command post and related his reply as calmly as if he were repeating some casual street-corner conversation from his home town of Houston, Texas.

An officer standing nearby said, "You had a hell of a nerve to tell them that."

"They had a hell of a nerve to put a proposition like that up to me," replied Captain Kerley with a grin. He and the survivors of the lost battalion came down the hill this afternoon after being relieved by the counter-attack of two other infantry battalions, one of them commanded by the colonel of this regiment, who since Monday morning had sweated in silent agony to free his trapped men.

Now they are free and are holding another hill which is quiet, and they can rest.

In the successful relieving assault, the colonel went up the hill in his jeep.

"The German doesn't make me walk often, but I had to hit the dirt from that jeep three times going up because of his fire," the colonel said.

Acting commander of the battalion was Captain Reynolds C. Erickson, a Miles, Iowa, farmer until the war, but it was Captain Kerley to whom the Germans delivered the ultimatum Wednesday.

Refuses to Surrender
"He (the German emissary) was an officer in shiny boots and very polite," said Captain Kerley.

"He came up under a white flag and told me the battalion was surrounded and he would give us until 8 o'clock to quit, and if we didn't he would destroy us all."

Drive To Take East Prussia

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Aug. 14 (AP)—The zero hour for an all-out Soviet assault on East Prussia appeared to be approaching rapidly today as Russian armies massed in a great thrust across the borders of that German province.

Russian units to the south were 15 to 17 miles from the East Prussia frontier, while to the east other Soviet forces were seven to 10 miles away and to the north from 30 to 35 miles.

Red Army forces apparently striving to rip Nazi defenses in East Prussia wide open from the south menaced the enemy stronghold of Lomza, vital communications center that links embattled Warsaw with the Junker province.

75 miles from advanced Russian elements. The Germans were counterattacking vainly.

Virtually no news came from the siege of Warsaw itself where the Russians were planted just outside the Polish capital on the eastern side of the broad and swift Vistula.

Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky still was bringing up tanks, supplies and reserves and building communications.

42-YEAR HEAT
RECORDS SET
OVER WEEKEND

Shattering 42-year records for the respective dates here over the week-end, the mercury rose to a high of 101 degrees here and made Sunday night one of the hottest of the season.

After hitting 100 degrees last Friday afternoon, the temperature climber to a new season's high of 101 degrees Saturday afternoon. Sunday's maximum was 98 degrees. At 1 o'clock this afternoon the temperature was 91 degrees with a light breeze bringing relief to those whom it reached. Higher humidity, however, offset any relief that might have accompanied the slightly lower thermometer readings.

Freack Shower
At Arendtsville weather station the week-end high also was 101 degrees but it was recorded Sunday. Saturday's high there was 99 degrees. This afternoon at 1 o'clock the temperature there was 93 degrees. Upper countians however are enjoying cooler nights than a freak five-minute shower here Gettysburgians for every night over the week-end the mercury dropped to 68 degrees or lower.

Sunday afternoon brought no relief from the heat but rather added to the humidity.

No Relief Promised
(By The Associated Press)
Hot and humid—that's the weather forecast for today.

The weatherman's only note of optimism for heat-weary Pennsylvanians was "few afternoon and evening thundershowers" in some portions of the state.

The latest heat wave reached new heights yesterday when the mercury sizzled to the 100 mark in Harrisburg and Reading. In other parts of the state these marks were set: Philadelphia, 95; Allentown, 93; Wilkes-Barre, 99; Lancaster, 97; and Scranton, 98.

A freak summer storm at York caused considerable damage but failed to drop the temperatures which stood at 98 over the week-end.

Hamburg and Birdsboro reported a water shortage.

Symphony Hour To Be Held Tonight

The Gettysburg Summer Symphony hour will be held this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the rear of Glatfelter hall on the college campus.

Included on the program will be the following: "The Star Spangled Banner," "Eine Feste Burg," arranged by Stokowski; "Fugue in G Minor," Bach; "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik," Mozart; "Nocturn in F-sharp," Debussy; "The Wasps, Overture," Vaughn-Williams, and "Ballets Dances," Borodin.

The public is invited to attend.

GIVEN CLUSTER FOR AIR MEDAL

An Eighth AAF Bomber Station, England (By Mail)—An Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal has been awarded Sgt. Francis A. Rider, 241 Baltimore street, Gettysburg, for "meritorious achievement" on B-17 Flying Fortress bombing attacks on enemy Europe.

A waist gunner, he is a veteran of 12 combat missions. The citation accompanying the award read in part: "The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this enlisted man upon these occasions reflect great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Sergeant Rider, 21 years old, a graduate of Gettysburg high school in 1941, was an aircraft mechanic at Olmsted Field, Middletown, before entering the Army February 1, 1943. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Allen P. Rider.

Birth Announcements

Daughters were born at the Warner hospital this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kretz, Gettysburg R. 1, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Levan, Gettysburg R. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Olson, 224 East Middle street, announce the birth of a son at the hospital Sunday.

Lt. J. F. Reaser Rescued With Lost Battalion After 5 Days

By WES GALLAGHER

On the Mortain Sector, France, Aug. 12 (AP)—American Long Tom 155's delivering life instead of death, fired shells filled with blood plasma, morphine and sulfa drugs to a "lost battalion" fighting on a hill behind German lines before it was relieved.

For five days the battalion of an American infantry division fought behind enemy lines, causing great havoc and refusing two demands to surrender from Hitler's prize SS troops. They were supplied by food in "dive-bombing" by P-47 Thunderbolts, and with medical supplies by Long Tom artillery shells.

In Line 40 Days

The battalion was part of a division which has been in the line more than 40 days. Although tired, it bore the brunt of an attack by more than four Nazi armored divisions, standing firm even when battalion and regimental command posts were overrun and switchboard operators had to use bazookas to drive off the enemy.

The battalion command directed artillery fire on German positions, and the infuriated Germans retaliated with mortar fire and a renewed counter-attack. But the battalion held.

Yesterday during daylight the Germans, striving desperately to withdraw, took to a road with a large convoy of tanks and guns. The lost battalion on the hill spotted the column, called on artillery, and every American gun along that sector of the front rained shells down while the battalion corrected their fire.

Outfit Rescued

The total destruction of the column was told in these words by an observer on the fading radio:

"Tired as we are and hungry as we are, there is not a man who is not happy as can be at the sight."

Late today a regiment fought its way to the battalion position, opening up a relief route.

While the problem of feeding the battalion was solved from the air, getting medical supplies there was a different question.

This was solved when someone thought of taking smoke shells, cutting out the insides, packing medical supplies in cotton and firing them to the hilltop with 155's from miles back.

The battalion reported all except the morphine arrived in good shape, even to the blood plasma in glass containers. Some of the morphine was too battered for use.

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

With an American Infantry Battalion Near Mortain, France, Aug. 12 (AP)—This battalion was rescued this afternoon after being cut off by the Germans for five and one-half days on an ear-shaped hill just east of Mortain.

The Germans had repeatedly demanded that the battalion surrender, but at the blackest hour, on Wednesday night, the Captain in command sent this message back to the crack SS troops surrounding his force:

"I will surrender when every one of our bullets has been fired and every one of our bayonets is sticking in a German belly."

The captain was R. A. Kerley. He told about it tonight after a relief regiment had cut its way to the battalion's isolated position.

"They Had Nerve"

The captain stood gaunt and black-bearded against the wall of an old stable that row is the battalion command post and related his reply as calmly as if he were repeating some casual street-corner conversation from his home town of Houston, Texas.

An officer standing nearby said, "You had a hell of a nerve to tell them that."

"They had a hell of a nerve to put a proposition like that up to me," replied Captain Kerley with a grin.

He and the survivors of the lost battalion came down the hill this afternoon after being relieved by the counter-attack of two other infantry battalions, one of them commanded by the colonel of this regiment, who since Monday morning had sweated in silent agony to free his trapped men.

Now they are free and are holding another hill which is quiet, and they can rest.

In the successful relieving assault, the colonel went up the hill in his jeep.

"The German doesn't make me walk often, but I had to hit the dirt from that jeep three times going up because of his fire," the colonel said.

Acting commander of the battalion was Captain Reynolds C. Erickson, a Miles, Iowa, farmer until the war, but it was Captain Kerley to whom the Germans delivered the ultimatum Wednesday.

Refuses to Surrender

"He (the German emissary) was an officer in shiny boots and very polite," said Captain Kerley.

"He came up under a white flag and told me the battalion was surrounded and he would give us until 8 o'clock to quit, and if we didn't he would destroy us all."

Gesturing with one hand and dig-

MINUTEMEN ARE PRAISED HIGHLY AFTER REVIEW

Adams county's company of Minutemen, lauded by official guests for the fine appearance they presented in their retreat ceremony and review at Sheffer's (formerly Gelman's) park along the Biglerville road Sunday afternoon, were specially praised for their plans to continue an active organization until victory.

The Minutemen paraded before Col. John E. Shade, representative of the state commander of the Pennsylvania State Guard Reserve, and Mrs. Shade; Judge and Mrs. W. C. Sheely, and the Adams county commissioners and their chief clerk and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Boyd, Quintin D. Rebert, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Smith.

The review and retreat were the features of the company's picnic for its members and their families. About 175 persons attended.

Promise Support

Colonel Shade congratulated the county unit upon its fine appearance and praised them for the "way in which you've done the job you were carefully selected to do." He made special mention of the fact that the county company is one of the comparative few in the state that have continued as an active unit after the initial threat of enemy action here dimmed.

Judge Sheely told the men that Adams county is proud of their organization and of its record. He also commented favorably upon the unit's appearance and drill work. He referred to the unit's organization in March of 1943 and of its "fine progress" since that time.

The commissioners stated their willingness to "stand back" of the company with full support of its activities for the duration of the war.

The unit's commander, Capt. C. Arthur Brame, was in charge of the unit for the afternoon's parade.

Enjoy Contests

Members were urged to report at the armory here Friday evening at 8 o'clock when a new series of maneuvers intended to continue until late fall will be opened. The company now has 93 active members.

During the afternoon games and contests for all provided entertainment. There were two ball games, each won by the men of the second platoon. The winning platoon was captained by David Alwine. George Bushman headed the team of the first platoon. There was a peanut scramble for the youngsters and horseshoe pitching.

At 5:30 o'clock Cloyd Shetter served the picnicers their evening meal which included ham, baked beans, weiners, potato salad, tomatoes, ice cream, chocolate milk and ice tea.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Never again will we boast about our mosquitos. We thought they were the biggest, fattest and toughest bred. But Private George F. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Edwards, Harrisburg road, who is now serving in New Guinea, has come forth with a new challenge.

Private Edwards claims the mosquitos in New Guinea are the champs. For proof he submits the following:

"In a recent issue of The Times your 'Good Evening' read 'We challenge anyone to produce bigger and tougher mosquitos than we have.'"

"I am sorry that I cannot send you one of these larger New Guinea mosquitos because postal authorities do not permit packages that large to go through the mail."

"In all my time I have never seen such feats of strength as the mosquitos perform down here. As for myself I have a small one that I have trained to dog-rob for me. Although it is getting out of hand I have to bribe it with such things as cigarettes from our K rations."

Weather Forecast

Hot and humid tonight and Tuesday.

Married

Miss Margaret Ellen Trew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilkins Trew, Springs avenue, who was married August 10 to Midshipman Thomas L. Cline, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Cline, Carlisle street.

MISS TREW AND THOMAS CLINE WED AUGUST 10

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilkins Trew, Springs avenue, today announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Margaret Ellen Trew, to Midshipman Thomas L. Cline, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Cline, Carlisle street.

The marriage took place August 10 at 6 p. m. at "The Little Church Around the Corner" in New York city. The Rev. Charles Weatherly officiated at the double ring ceremony. A wedding dinner followed at "The Cafe Rouge," Hotel Pennsylvania. Later that evening Mrs. Charles D. Ott held a reception at her home in New Gardens for the young newlyweds.

The attendants at the wedding were Miss Jane Trew, sister of the bride, as maid of honor and Mrs. Charles D. Ott as matron of honor. Charles Ott served as best man.

The altar of the church was decorated with white stephanotis, lilies and white candles.

Local Graduates

Mrs. Cline is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and attended Hannah Moore academy, Baltimore. (Please Turn to Page 5)

SEEK CARS IN HIT-RUN CASES

State police at the local substation are seeking two cars involved in hit-and-run accidents in eastern Adams county over the week-end. So far as is known no one was injured in either mishap and damage was minor.

Pvt. George J. Evanko was called out Sunday morning to investigate a collision which took place shortly after midnight two miles north of Abbottstown on the East Berlin road when Charles A. Orwig, Dover R. 2, was in the act of passing another car. The other machine suddenly swerved to the left Orwig said, and the cars' bumpers locked while the machines traveled about 300 feet.

As the cars pulled apart Orwig's auto ran off the highway and over a culvert while the other machine continued on its way. Police are without any satisfactory description of the missing car.

The other crash occurred Friday night about 10:30 o'clock on the Hanover-New Oxford road but was not reported until nearly noon Saturday. Paul Neiderer, Hanover, reported that his car was sideswiped as he drove north and that the other machine did not stop. He said the hit-and-run motorist was driving a green convertible. A Buick hubcap found at the scene is another clue. Damage to the Neiderer car was estimated at about $40.

Pvt. Harold Sheads is investigating.

Arrive Overseas

Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman, New Oxford, received word that their son, Cpl. William Sherman, has arrived safely in England.

Armored Jaws Of Pincers Only 16 Miles Of Closing

By GLADWIN HILL

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 14 (AP)—A ring of American, British and Canadian forces, spurred by Gen. Eisenhower's declaration that they can score their greatest victory in the west, drove in furiously today for the destruction of the cream of German forces in northwestern Europe.

Caught in an almost complete trap in Normandy, approximately 100,000 Germans—a fourth of the entire force with which the Allies have come in contact since D-Day—fought a confused, grueling battle under a sky filled with Allied planes.

The Nazis were trying to escape the jaws of a pincers which were within 16 miles of closing.

Mighty Allied Trap Is Sprung

The trap was sprung, it was disclosed after five days of secrecy shrouded operations west of Paris, when powerful American armored and infantry spearheads sweeping in a 250-mile arc through Le Mans, converged upon the German flank and rear in a sudden twist to the north. This swing took the Americans through Alencon, Sees and Argentan, only 16 miles south of the Canadian First Army five miles above Falaise.

Now the American armored "hammer" was beating the Germans against the Canadian-British "anvil" below Caen.

Field Marshal Guenther Von Kluge's defense of France south of the Seine appeared doomed as his forces squirmed under frightful punishment to pull out through the suddenly narrowed gap.

Nearly All Escape Roads Are Cut

Practically all his escape roads toward the Seine were cut. Allied air forces were pouncing on every movement of the Germans, wrecking hundreds of locomotives and thousands of rail cars. Not a single wagon or bicycle was immune from attack from the swarms of aircraft which buzzed over the battle area in endless processions.

Roads that remained open were under Allied shellfire, and it appeared that only new German armies could stem the Normandy tide.

However, Von Kluge already had drawn on 40 of the 60 or 65 divisions he was believed to have had in France at the start of the invasion. British staff officers yesterday said the Allies already had contacted 40 divisions.

"Let No German Escape"

Advanced Command Post In Normandy, Aug. 14 (AP)—Text of General Dwight D. Eisenhower's order of the day:

"Allied soldiers, sailors and airmen:

"Through your combined skill, valor and fortitude you have created in France a fleeting but definite opportunity for a major Allied victory, one whose realization will mean notable progress toward the final downfall of our enemy."

"In the past I have, in a moment of unusual significance, made special appeals to Allied forces it has been my honor to command. Without exception the response has been unstinted and the result beyond my expectations."

"Because the victory we can now achieve is infinitely greater than any it has so far been possible to accomplish in the west and because this opportunity may be grasped only through the utmost in zeal and determination and speedy action I make my present appeal to you more urgent than ever before."

"I request every airman to make it his direct responsibility that the enemy is blasted unceasingly by day and by night and is denied safety either in flight or in flight."

"I request every sailor to make sure that no part of the hostile forces can either escape or be reinforced by sea, and that our comrades on land want nothing that guns and ships and ship companies can bring to them."

"I request every soldier to go forward to his assigned objective with the determination that the enemy can survive only through surrender; let no foot of ground once gained be relinquished, nor single German escape through a line once established."

"With all of us resolutely performing our special tasks, we can make this week a momentous one in the history of this war—a brilliant and fruitful week for us, a fateful one for the ambitions of Nazi tyrants."

Reds Closing In For Full Drive To Take East Prussia

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Aug. 14 (AP)—The zero hour for an all-out Soviet assault on East Prussia appeared to be approaching rapidly today as Russian armies massed in a great threatening arc before the borders of that German province.

Russian units to the south were 15 to 17 miles from the East Prussia frontier, while to the east other Soviet forces were seven to 10 miles away and to the north from 30 to 35 miles.

Red Army forces apparently striving to rip Nazi defenses in East Prussia wide open from the south menaced the enemy stronghold of Lomza, vital communications center that links embattled Warsaw with the Junker province.

Evacuate Oswiec

The Germans announced the evacuation of the important communications center of Oswiec, Polish Biebrza river city 15 miles south of the East Prussian border, and the withdrawal of Nazi lines "a few kilometers" to the west.

The German radio previously said strong Russian forces supported by many tanks and planes "succeeded in gaining some ground" northwest of Bialystok—the drive threatening East Prussia from the south and Warsaw from the north.

Great tank battles continued west of the Vistula in the Kielce region about 100 miles south of Warsaw and within 35 miles of Krakow, the last great Polish bastion guarding industrial centers of German Silesia 75 miles from advanced Russian elements. The Germans were counterattacking vainly.

Virtually no news came from the siege of Warsaw itself where the Russians were planted just outside the Polish capital on the eastern side of the broad and swift Vistula. Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky still was bringing up tanks, supplies and reserves and building communications.

Take 530 Towns

Since Friday the Russians between Warsaw and East Prussia have bitten deep into German lines, capturing 530 settlements and forcing three rivers, the Narw, the upper Bug and the Biebrza, crossed

Of these 15 already have been counted as destroyed or badly cut up in the beachhead battles, the St. Lo breakthrough, the Brittany sweep and the terrific battles in the hedgerows below Caen.

Now 12 more understrength divisions were believed caught in the giant bag.

Early Decision

Only the coming hours would show how many of these von Kluge would be able to extricate.

It appeared unlikely he would be able to save enough to make another strong stand below the Seine, and as yet there was no indication that he had been able to build up a reserve to defend even Paris.

He was making a desperate effort to save as much as possible, however, using haywagons, farm vehicles and even bicycles to move his troops, and leaving behind a hard rearguard crust to prevent Allied armies from the west, south and north from cutting his retreating forces to pieces.

This resistance still was particularly strong in the north. It made Canadian and British progress extremely slow above Falaise, and prevented the Americans around Vire and Mortaine from making much better speed.

"Not A Rout"

The German withdrawal still was not a rout.

Meanwhile, there still was no news of any Allied operations east of Le Mans toward Paris, nor from the spearhead which crossed the Loire three days ago and struck southward 100 miles.

The Allied trap, 30 or more miles deep, was 100 miles west of Paris, but it seemed unlikely von Kluge's shattered forces could put up any further defense, on an effective scale, of the 20,000 square mile area through which the American whirlwind had swept in the past three weeks.

In the Vire area the Allies gained up to three miles, although the Germans displayed stubborn resistance around Mortain. This sector is along the western portion of the enemy line and in the area from which the Germans tried unsuccessfully a week ago to split the Allies in Normandy and Brittany.

Fly 5,500 Sorties

American columns pushing eastward have established a bridgehead between Domfront, 13 miles east and slightly south of Mortain, and Mayenne, 20 miles south of Domfront.

Allied planes flew about 5,500 sorties yesterday in support of the great entrapment move.

A front dispatch said the Nazis were retreating down every open road, using everything from military

Our best summary of the fluid and confusing battle of western Europe comes from Commander-in-Chief Eisenhower's great order of the day in which he tells his troops that they "have created in France a feeling but definite opportunity for a major Allied victory."

These three fateful words, "feeling but definite" tell the whole story. We must take complete success for granted. Great leadership and gallantry by the Allied forces have put us in position where, General Ike says, "We can make this week a momentous one in the history of this war." But we haven't yet clinched our victory. "This week" may tell the story.

We have the Boche in a tight corner. On the Normandy-Brittany front he is engaged in a general withdrawal to the northeast, that is, towards Paris and the Seine river. Within that broad front is a cul-de-sac of death whose narrow mouth opens towards Paris. Inside this trap is a large force of Germans struggling to escape.

Thrilling Moment

The Allies are attacking furiously to close the mouth of their trap, which is only a few miles wide as this is written. Canadian and British troops are driving down from the bloody Caen sector while American armored forces are striking north from Argentan.

We don't know—nobody knows—how many Germans there still are within that trap, but there may be 100,000. They are battling fiercely to escape—the primitive fight of man for a chance to live. They're reported to be doing this grimly and methodically—still exhibiting the discipline and training of what once was an almost perfect fighting machine.

Can they avoid panic and get away? Some certainly will, but only time will tell how many. This great battle, of which the cul-de-sac is only a part (though a very important one) is one of the thrilling moments of the war. Its outcome will mean much to the hopes of an early end of the European conflict. The whole structure of the German defense in western Europe will be virtually wrecked by the outcome of Eisenhower's "momentous" week.

Luftwaffe's Last Gasp

I call your special attention to the assignment of the Allied air services in this battle. With the retreating Germans swarming all roads, main and rural, out of Normandy and Brittany, the mighty American-British fleets are taking a terrible toll both in lives and in equipment. Moreover, Nazi communications not only on the battlefield but throughout western Europe are being shattered by the endless line of Allied planes.

Meanwhile the Hitlerites are getting almost no assistance from a Luftwaffe which is about gasping its last. This means that the German armies are having to meet this great crisis unaided. They've lost the use of their eyes, for warplanes are the eyes of the modern army. That's a terrible handicap.

We can't foresee what tactics Field Marshal Von Kluge may pursue in an effort to save himself. Probably he doesn't know himself at this moment. What is clear is that he's apparently had hoped to pull his forces back northeastward and make a stand along the Seine river, with Paris as an anchor. This would protect the Nazi forces along the coast of the English Channel and cover the ultimate retreat of the Nazi into Germany. The way things are developing he may never get a chance to put this plan into execution.

Miss Margaret A. Rowe.

Cumberland, Aug. 14 (AP)—Miss Margaret A. Rowe, 79, retired Allegheny county school teacher, died Friday morning at her home. A native of Emmitsburg, she was a daughter of the late William and Elizabeth Willis Rowe, and had been a resident of this city since her early childhood when the family moved here.

Miss Rowe, one of Allegheny county's best known teachers, retired in 1925 after 45 years of service in the county school system. Funeral services were held this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic church, with interment in the church cemetery.

Tells Of Robot Bombing Overseas

Capt. William E. Stahler, of Plainfield, N. J., grandson of Mrs. J. E. Kissinger, Baltimore street, who recently returned from overseas duty, told of robot bombing in the English channel.

"We had several buzz bomb attacks there. Our gun crew shot one down and other landed very near us though most of them went over inland. One night 19 of them went close over us in a few hours but we weren't hit and we didn't lose a man. We got out of it luckily."

Captain Stahler commanded the ship that took the first American wounded off the Normandy beach-head and after two successful crossings with assault troops he lay in a south England port awaiting orders. Later he returned to this country.

Captain Stahler is 27 years old, married and has a two-year-old daughter. He is a son of the late Madeline Kissinger Lander-Stahler. No American troops were lost on Army transports in the crossing to France and today is the second anniversary of the service.

FIRE STAMPEDES 25,000 AT N. J. PARK ON SUNDAY

Fort Lee, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—About 85 per cent of Palisades amusement park was a smoldering ruin today after a $1,500,000 fire in which 150 or more persons were injured or affected by smoke and a Sunday afternoon crowd estimated at 25,000 was sent stampeding.

Spectacular rescues were effected as flames swept the popular resort atop the Palisades opposite 125th street, New York.

Scores of those injured or overcome were treated at three hospitals, and others were cared for by rescue and first aid squads and volunteers.

Gas Tanks Explode

The fire separated many family groups and circles of friends, and there were frantic scenes as parents searched for children.

Between 75 and 100 automobiles in the parking lot were destroyed. The explosions of gas tanks led to the terror.

Witnesses said the fire started in the Virginia Reel, a circular ride which was loaded with children. A short circuit was blamed.

Meanwhile, three men were listed as missing in the pier and ship explosions and multi-million dollar fire which broke out Friday night in Hoboken on the Hudson riverfront and continued to smolder today.

700 Injured

Hoboken Police Chief Edward J. McFeely identified the men, volunteer fire fighters, as Thomas Robinson, 52, Jersey City, a watchman; Edward Clarke, 45, Hoboken, a longshoreman; and Thomas O'Brien, New York city, a longshoreman. The body of a man tentatively identified as O'Brien was found in the Hudson today.

The toll of those injured or overcome by smoke reached 700.

BULLETINS

With American Forces in France, Aug. 14 (AP)—American tanks lunged forward today in thrusts that carried them seven to 12 miles eastward by noon along the center of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's great smothering attack. To the north American infantry is tearing through the Germans so fast that abandoned enemy machineguns are found with their belts still loaded.

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, Yugoslav Partisan Leader Marshal Tito and Premier Ivan Subasic of the exile Yugoslav government met in Italy Saturday and Sunday. It was announced here today, for talks which may do much toward shaping the post-war fate of Yugoslavia.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—The German radio said today approximately four American divisions driving north toward Falaise from Alencon had fanned out to the area of Carrouges, 13 miles southwest of Argentan.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 14 (AP)—American forces snapping shut a trap on the German Seventh Army have surrounded Argentan, 13 miles south of Falaise, while in the north a major Canadian offensive gained two miles on a drive toward Falaise.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Second French Armored Division, commanded by the mysterious General Le Clerc of African fame, is fighting in France alongside American forces, Supreme Headquarters announced late today.

Rome, Aug. 14 (AP)—Military installations in southern France were hammered for the third consecutive day by up to 750 heavy American bombers today.

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Great armadas of American and British planes numbering well over 3,500 today bombed war industries in southern Germany, enemy installations throughout France and shipping in the great port of Brest, while harrying the Germans in their perilous retreat in Normandy. They struck from British and Italian bases.

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Germans are using flamethrowers to screen their assaults on Warsaw positions of the Polish underground forces, a communiqué from General Bor, underground commander, said today.

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Allied warships patrolling the Bay of Biscay and the channel coast around Brittany sank five enemy ships and possibly a sixth in a series of skirmishes Saturday. The Admiralty announced Sunday. Also announced was the loss of the British destroyers Iris and Quorn, three minesweepers and two trawlers in invasion operations.

PHILIPPINES BOMBED AGAIN

(By The Associated Press.)

U.S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Aug. 14—The fourth bombing of the Philippines in five days and new air blows north and south of Japan were portents today of a way moving west so fast that Adm. Chester W. Nimitz may have to advance his headquarters to catch up with it.

Underlining this tempo of offensive, Nimitz told a press conference the war may be won without invading Japan—although occupation "would be necessary to insure a winning peace"—and mentioned the possibility of American warships bombarding Nippon.

The commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet and Pacific ocean areas, in looking for new headquarters, even has his eye on the recently invaded Marianas, 3,000 miles away, more than 600 miles past Japanese-held Truk and within 1,500 miles of Tokyo.

It now can be disclosed that Nimitz, after momentous conferences here with President Roosevelt and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, went to Guam and Saipan, consulting fighting leaders there and just has returned, determined "to put the heat on as hard and fast as we can."

BATTLE HERE IS CAMPFIRE TOPIC

Dr. Frederick Tilberg, National park historian, discussed the strategy and course of the fight on the second day of the Battle of Gettysburg at a campfire program Sunday night at Cemetery hill.

Civil war photographs of earthworks and landmarks connected with the second day's battle were shown. Doctor Tilberg explained the development of the Union and Confederate battle lines on the hills and ridges south of Gettysburg and then pointed out the forward movement of Sickles' Union corps to the high ground at the Peach orchard.

He then showed the approach of Longstreet's corps from the Chambersburg road southward and in the rear of Seminary and Warfield ridges to prolong the Confederate battle line across the Emmitsburg road.

Also discussed was the plan of a coordinated attack by Longstreet against the Union position from Devil's Den to the Peach Orchard area and an attack by Ewell against Cemetery hill and Culp's hill, as well as the complete failure of co-ordination when the attacks got underway.

Human interest incidents of the battle were recounted and a discussion period followed the talk.

William H. Allison, superintendent of the National Cemetery, will speak next Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock on "The Third Day, Battle of Gettysburg."

FARM SOLD

In a deed filed today at the court house Arthur E. Livingston and James H. Livingston, executors of the estate of the late John W. Livingston, of Latimore township, transferred to Peter J. Griest, Latimore township, two properties totaling approximately 126 acres and 30 perches in Latimore township.

GRASS FIRE

Gettysburg firemen were called out shortly before 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon to put out a grass fire near Marsh Creek Heights. No damage was reported.

CALLS FIRE DRILL

Fire Chief James A. Aumen, announced today there will be a fire company drill Tuesday evening. Members are asked to report at the engine house at 6:45 p. m.

William Zinkand, Lincolnway East, formerly proprietor of "50-50 Bill's" service station, has purchased hunting license No. 5050, County Treasurer John W. Brehm said today.

Wives File Actions In Two Divorces

Two libels in divorce were on entry today at the court house, the wives in both cases suing the husbands.

The first was entered by Edith M. (Shultz) Walter verses Jacob Blaine Walter, both of Franklin township. The papers listed the date of their marriage at October 21, 1935, and separation as September 21, 1941, when Mrs. Walter charged desertion on the part of her husband.

Grace M. (Snyder) Rose, Carlisle street, charged Robert G. Rose with cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities in her action. The date of their marriage was given as July 30, 1938, and the date of separation on or about January 15, 1944.

Music Director Takes Summer Work

Prof. Richard E. Shade, Reservoir avenue, returned Sunday from Princeton, New Jersey, where he completed the summer course at the Westminster Choir school.

Professor Shade, who is music director in the Gettysburg public schools and minister of music at St. James Lutheran church, studied conducting, vocal methods, choir class work and organ at the Westminster school. In addition, he took private organ lessons with Dr. Alexander McCurdy, professor of organ at the Curtis Institute, Philadelphia. Mrs. Shade also was in Princeton with her husband and took a course in choir work.

Five Inductees Get Extra Examination

Five of the Adams county men sent to the Harrisburg induction station Friday in the August draft call of Local Board No. 2 at Gettysburg, were allowed to return to their homes pending the outcome of a further physical check-up.

All of the five had had their pre-induction physical examinations more than 90 days ago, the limit allowed by Selective Service regulations. The men will return to Harrisburg Tuesday for a further report.

The list of inductees furnished and published Friday incorrectly listed Woodrow Wilson Eckert, 68 West Middle street, as a non-father. Eckert is the father of two children.

J. W. MEHRING, 64 WATCHMAN, DIES IN LITTLESTOWN

John W. Mehring, 64, watchman at the Windsor Shoe company, Littlestown, was found dead in a company office Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock when another watchman came to relieve him.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, was called and attributed death to a heart attack. He set the time of death at about 8 o'clock in the morning.

Mehring had been employed by the Windsor company for several years. He was a former bookkeeper at the Littlestown Silk company.

He was a son of the late Solomon D. and Emma J. (Phleiger) Mehring. His mother died last January.

Services Wednesday

He is survived by his widow the former Lela M. Julius, and five daughters: Mrs. Ira Geissman, Hanover; Mrs. Philbert Jacobs, Littlestown; Miss Janet E. Mehring, York; and Miss Elizabeth E. and Miss A. Catherine Mehring at home.

Nine grandchildren and the following brothers and sisters also survive: Charles R. Mehring and Robert L. Mehring, both of Littlestown; Benton Mehring, York; Nevin Mehring, Hanover; Mrs. Milton Krug, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Jacob Hollinger, Middleport.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Little funeral home, Littlestown, with the Rev. Theodore W. Boltz, pastor of the Redeemer Reformed church, officiating. Burial will be in Mr. Carmel cemetery.

Hold Services For Isaac Lentz

Funeral services for Isaac H. Lentz, who died Friday afternoon, were held this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Ignace Catholic church, Buchanan Valley, with the Rev. Fr. Daniel J. Crowley officiating. Interment in the church cemetery.

The pallbearers were William Cole, Lamont Kane, John McKenrick, Samuel and John Irvin and Lawrence Kimpke.

The Rev. H. C. Michael, Springs avenue, filled the pulpit of the Middlestown Lutheran church Sunday.

THIS WEEK MAY TELL STORY IN FRENCH BATTLE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

Our best summary of the fluid and confusing battle of western Europe comes from Commander-in-Chief Eisenhower's great order of the day in which he tells his troops that they "have created in France a fleeting but definite opportunity for a major Allied victory."

Those three fateful words, "fleeting but definite" tell the whole story. We mustn't take complete success for granted. Great leadership and gallantry by the Allied forces have put us in position where, General Ike says, "We can make this week a momentous one in the history of this war." But we haven't yet clinched our victory. "This week" may tell the story.

We have the Boche in a tight corner. On the Normandy-Brittany front he is engaged in a general withdrawal to the northeast, that is, towards Paris and the Seine river. Within that broad front is a cul-de-sac of death whose narrow mouth opens towards Paris. Inside this trap is a large force of German stragglers to escape.

Thrilling Moment

The Allies are attacking furiously to close the mouth of their trap, which is only a few miles wide as this is written. Canadian and British troops are driving down from the bloody Caen sector while American armored forces are striking north from Argentan.

We don't know—nobody knows—how many Germans there still are within that trap, but there may be 100,000. They are battling fiercely to escape—the pitiful fight of man for a chance to live. They're reported to be doing this grimly and methodically—still exhibiting the discipline and training of what once was an almost perfect fighting machine.

Can they avoid panic and get away? Some certainly will, but only time will tell how many. This great battle, of which the cul-de-sac is only a part (though a very important one) is one of the thrilling moments of the war. Its outcome will mean much to the hopes of an early end of the Hitlerian conflict. The whole structure of the German defense in western Europe will be virtually affected by the outcome of Eisenhower's "momentous" week.

Lufthawer's Last Gasp

I call your special attention to the assignment of the Allied air services in this battle. With the retreating Germans swarming all roads, main and rural, out of Normandy and Brittany, the mighty American-British fleets are taking a terrible toll both in lives and in equipment. Moreover, Nazi communications not only on the battlefront but throughout western Europe are being shattered by the endless line of Allied planes.

Meanwhile the Hitlerites are getting almost no assistance from a Luftwaffe which is about gasping its last. This means that the German armies are having to meet this great crisis blindfolded. They've lost the use of their eyes, for warplanes are the eyes of the modern army. That's a terrible handicap.

We can't foresee what tactics Field Marshal Von Kluge may pursue in an effort to save himself. Probably he doesn't know himself at this moment. What is clear is that he apparently had hoped to pull his forces back northeastward and make a stand along the Seine river, with Paris as another. This would protect the Nazi forces along the coast of the English Channel and cover the ultimate retreat of the Nazi into Germany. The way things are developing he may never get a chance to put this plan into execution.

Miss Rowe, one of Allegheny county's best known teachers, retired in 1925 after 45 years of service in the county school system. Funeral services were held this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic church, with interment in the church cemetery.

Tells Of Robot Bombing Overseas

Capt. William E. Stahler, of Plainfield, N. J., grandson of Mrs. J. E. Kissinger, Baltimore street, who recently returned from overseas duty, told of robot bombing in the English channel.

"We had several buzz bomb attacks there. Our gun crew shot one down and other landed very near us though most of them went over inland. One night 19 of them went over us in a few hours but we weren't hit and we didn't lose a man. We got out of it luckily."

Captain Stahler commanded the ship that took the first American wounded off the Normandy beachhead and after two successful crossings with assault troops he lay in a south England port awaiting orders. Later he returned to this country.

Captain Stahler is 27 years old, married and has a two-year-old daughter. He is a son of the late Madeline Kissinger Lander-Stahler. No American troops were lost on Army transports in the crossing to France and today is the second anniversary of the service.

FIRE STAMPEDES 25,000 AT N. J. PARK ON SUNDAY

Fort Lee, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—About 85 per cent of Palisades Amusement park today after a $1,500,000 fire in which 150 or more persons were injured or affected by smoke and a Sunday afternoon crowd estimated at 25,000 was sent stampeding.

Spectacular rescues were effected as flames swept the popular resort atop the Palisades opposite 125th street, New York.

Scores of those injured or overcome were treated at three hospitals, and others were cared for by rescue and first aid squads and volunteers.

Gas Tanks Explode

The fire separated many family groups and circles of friends, and there were frantic scenes as parents searched for children.

Between 75 and 100 automobiles in the parking lot were destroyed. The explosions of gas tanks led to the terror.

Witnesses said the fire started in the Virginia Road, a circular ride which was loaded with children. A short circuit was blamed.

Meanwhile, three men were listed as missing in the pier and ship explosions and multi-million dollar fire which broke out Friday night in Hoboken on the Hudson riverfront and continued to smolder today.

700 Injured

Hoboken Police Chief Edward J. McPeck identified the men, volunteer fire fighters, as Thomas Robinson, 52, Jersey City, a watchman; Edward Clarke, 45, Hoboken, a longshoreman; and Thomas O'Brien, New York City, a longshoreman. The body of a man tentatively identified as O'Brien was found in the Hudson today.

The toll of those injured or overcome by smoke reached 700.

BULLETINS

With American Forces in France, Aug. 14 (AP)—American tanks lunged forward today in thrusts that carried them seven to 12 miles eastward by noon along the center of Lt. Gen. Omar N. ## PHILIPPINES BOMBED AGAIN

(By The Associated Press) U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Aug. 14—The fourth bombing of the Philippines in five days and new air blows north and south of Japan were portents today of a war moving west so fast that Adm. Chester W. Nimitz may have to advance his headquarters to catch up with it.

Underestimating this tempo of offensive, Nimitz told a press conference the war may be won without invading Japan—although occupation "would be necessary to insure a winning peace"—and mentioned the possibility of American warships bombarding Nippon.

The commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet and Pacific ocean areas, in looking for new headquarters, even has his eye on the recently invaded Marianas, 3,000 miles away, more than 600 miles past Japanese-held Truk and within 1,500 miles of Tokyo.

It now can be disclosed that Nimitz, after momentous conferences here with President Roosevelt and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, went to Guam and Saipan, consulted fighting leaders there and just has returned, determined "to put the heat on as hard and fast as we can."

BATTLE HERE IS CAMPFIRE TOPIC

Dr. Frederick Tilberg, National park historian, discussed the strategy and course of the fight on the second day of the Battle of Gettysburg at a campfire program Sunday night at Cemetery hill.

Civil war photographs of earthworks and landmarks connected with the second day's battle were shown. Doctor Tilberg explained the development of the Union and Confederate battle lines on the hills and ridges south of Gettysburg and then pointed out the forward movement of Sickles' Union corps to the high ground at the Peach orchard.

He then showed the approach of Longstreet's corps from the Chambersburg road southward and in the rear of Seminary and Warfield ridges to prolong the Confederate battle line across the Emmitsburg road.

Also discussed were the plan of a coordinated attack by Longstreet against the Union position from Devil's Den to the Peach Orchard area and an attack by Ewell against Cemetery hill and Culp's hill, as well as the complete failure of coordination when the attacks got underway.

Human interest incidents of the battle were recounted and a discussion period followed the talk.

William H. Allison, superintendent of the National Cemetery, will speak next Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock on "The Third Day, Battle of Gettysburg."

FARM SOLD

THIS WEEK MAY TELL STORY IN FRENCH BATTLE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Our best summary of the fluid and confusing battle of western Europe comes from Commander-in-Chief Eisenhower's great order of the day in which he tells his troops that they "have created in France a fleeting but definite opportunity for a major Allied victory."

Those three fateful words, "fleeting but definite" tell the whole story. We mustn't take complete success for granted. Great leadership and gallantry by the Allied forces have put us in position where, General Ike says, "We can make this week a momentous one in the history of this war." But we haven't yet clinched our victory. "This week" may tell the story.

We have the Boche in a tight corner. On the Normandy-Brittany front he is engaged in a general withdrawal to the northeast, that is, towards Paris and the Seine river. Within that broad front is a cul-de-sac of death whose narrow mouth opens towards Paris. Inside this trap is a large force of Germans struggling to escape.

Thrilling Moment

The Allies are attacking furiously to close the mouth of their trap, which is only a few miles wide as this is written. Canadian and British troops are driving down from the bloody Caen sector while American armored forces are striking north from Argentan.

We don't know—nobody knows—how many Germans there still are within that trap, but there may be 100,000. They are battling fiercely to escape—the primitive fight of man for a chance to live. They're reported to be doing this grimly and methodically—still exhibiting the discipline and training of what once was an almost perfect fighting machine.

Can they avoid panic and get away? Some certainly will, but only time will tell how many. This great battle, of which the cul-de-sac is only a part (though a very important one) is one of the thrilling moments of the war. Its outcome will mean much to the hopes of an early end of the Hitlerian conflict. The whole structure of the German defense in western Europe will be virtually affected by the outcome of Eisenhower's "momentous" week.

Luftwaffe's Last Gasp

I call your special attention to the assignment of the Allied air services in this battle. With the retreating Germans swarming all roads, main and rural, out of Normandy and Brittany, the mighty American-British fleets are taking a terrible toll both in lives and in equipment. Moreover, Nazi communications not only on the battlefront but throughout western Europe are being shattered by the endless line of Allied planes.

Meanwhile the Hitlerites are getting almost no assistance from a Luftwaffe which is about gasping its last. This means that the German armies are having to meet this great crisis blindfolded. They've lost the use of their eyes, for warplanes are the eyes of the modern army. That's a terrific handicap.

We can't foresee what tactics Field Marshal Von Kluge may pursue in an effort to save himself. Probably he doesn't know himself at this moment. What is clear is that he apparently had hoped to pull his forces back northward and make a stand along the Seine river, with Paris as an anchor. This would protect the Nazi forces along the coast of the English Channel and cover the ultimate retreat of the Nazi into Germany. The way things are developing he may never get a chance to put this plan into execution.

All the automobile proving grounds have been turned over to military authorities for war vehicle testing.

Wedding

Ginter—Brame

Miss Betty Jane Brame, Hellam, and Pfc. Roy W. Ginter, Wrightsville, formerly of Adams county, were united in marriage August 5 at the chapel of the base at Casper, Wyo. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Chaplain Little.

The bride was dressed in a white street length dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. John S. Clair, New York city, the bridesmaid, also wore a white street length dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Gilbert Sauer, New York city, was the best man.

Approximately 75 members of the 72nd Airdrome Squadron and their wives attended the ceremony.

The bride is employed by the Dentists' Supply company, York. The bridegroom has been in service for almost two years and is stationed at Casper.

DEATHS

Mrs. George Bankert

Mrs. Martha V. Bankert, 74, wife of George Bankert, Silver Run, died Friday evening at 9:30 o'clock at the Hanover General hospital, where she had been a patient a little more than two weeks.

Mrs. Bankert was a daughter of the late John T. and Cecilia Hull Dutterer. She was a life-long member of St. Mary's Reformed church, Silver Run, and was a member of the Women's Bible class of the Sunday school.

Surviving are her husband; six children, Clarence O. Bankert, Littlestown; John A. Bankert, Westminster; Robert N. Bankert, Hampstead; Mrs. Paul K. Klafius, Baltimore; Paul E. Bankert, Union Mills, and Charles D. Bankert, Hampstead; ten grandchildren and the following brothers and sisters, Maurice Dutterer, Alvin G. Dutterer and Bertha L. Dutterer, all of Silver Run; John W. Dutterer, Baltimore; Mrs. Harvey Dehoff, Littlestown R. D.; Eli C. Dutterer and Mrs. Clinton Koontz, Silver Run.

The funeral was held this morning with services conducted at her late residence at 10 o'clock. The Rev. Albert E. Shenberger, pastor of St. Mary's Reformed church, Silver Run, officiated. Interment was made in St. Mary's Union cemetery, Silver Run.

Miss Margaret A. Rowe

Cumberland, Aug. 14 (AP)—Miss Margaret A. Rowe, 79, retired Allegheny county school teacher, died Friday morning at her home. A native of Emmitsburg, she was a daughter of the late William and Elizabeth Wills Rowe, and had been a resident of this city since her early childhood when the family moved here.

Miss Rowe, one of Allegheny county's best known teachers, retired in 1925 after 45 years of service in the county school system. Funeral services were held this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic church, with interment in the church cemetery.

Tells Of Robot Bombing Overseas

Capt. William E. Stahler, of Plainfield, N. J., grandson of Mrs. J. E. Kissinger, Baltimore street, who recently returned from overseas duty, told of robot bombing in the English channel.

"We had several buzz bomb attacks there. Our gun crew shot one down and other landed very near us though most of them went over inland. One night 19 of them went close over us in a few hours but we weren't hit and we didn't lose a man. We got out of it luckily."

Captain Stahler commanded the ship that took the first American wounded off the Normandy beachhead and after two successful crossings with assault troops he lay in a south England port awaiting orders. Later he returned to this country.

Captain Stahler is 27 years old, married and has a two-year-old daughter. He is a son of the late Madeline Kissinger Lander-Stahler. No American troops were lost on Army transports in the crossing to France and today is the second anniversary of the service.

FIRE STAMPEDES 25,000 AT N. J. PARK ON SUNDAY

Fort Lee, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—About 85,000 people flocked to Palisades Amusement park was a smoldering ruin today after a $1,500,000 fire in which 150 or more persons were injured or affected by smoke and a Sunday afternoon crowd estimated at 25,000 was sent stampeding.

Spectacular rescues were effected as flames swept the popular resort atop the Palisades opposite 125th street, New York.

Scores of those injured or overcome were treated at three hospitals, and others were cared for by rescue and first aid squads and volunteers.

Gas Tanks Explode

The fire separated many family groups and circles of friends, and there were frantic scenes as parents searched for children.

Between 75 and 100 automobiles in the parking lot were destroyed. The explosions of gas tanks led to the terror.

Witnesses said the fire started in the Virginia Road, a circular drive which was loaded with children. A short circuit was blamed.

Meanwhile, three men were listed as missing in the pier and ship explosions and multi-million dollar fire which broke out Friday night in Hoboken on the Hudson riverfront and continued to smolder today.

700 Injured

Hoboken Police Chief Edward J. McFeeley identified the men, volunteer fire fighters, as Thomas Robinson, 52, Jersey City, a watchman; Edward Clarke, 45, Hoboken, a longshoreman; and Thomas O'Brien, New York city, a longshoreman. The body of a man tentatively identified as O'Brien was found in the Hudson today.

The toll of those injured or overcome by smoke reached 700.

BULLETINS

With American Forces in France, Aug. 14 (AP)—American tanks lunged forward today in thrusts that carried them seven to 12 miles eastward by noon along the center of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's great smothering attack. To the north American infantry is tearing through the Germans so fast that abandoned enemy machineguns are found with their belts still loaded.

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, Yugoslav Partisan leader Marshal Tito and Premier Ivan Subasic of the exile Yugoslav government met in Italy Saturday and Sunday. It was announced here today, for talks which may do much toward shaping the post-war fate of Yugoslavia.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—The German radio said today approximately four American divisions driving north toward Falaise from Alencon had fanned out to the area of Carrouges, 13 miles southwest of Argentan.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 14 (AP)—American forces snapping shut a trap on the German Seventh Army have surrounded Argentan, 13 miles south of Falaise, while in the north a major Canadian offensive gained two miles on a drive toward Falaise.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Second French Armored Division, commanded by the mysterious General Le Clerc of African fame, is fighting in France alongside American forces, Supreme Headquarters announced late today.

Rome, Aug. 14 (AP)—Military installations in southern France were hammered for the third consecutive day by up to 750 heavy American bombers today.

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Great armadas of American and British planes numbering well over 3,500 today bombed war industries in southern Germany, enemy installations throughout France and shipping in the great port of Brest, while harrying the Germans in their perilous retreat in Normandy. They struck from British and Italian bases.

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Germans are using flamethrowers to screen their assaults on Warsaw positions of the Polish underground forces, a communiqué from General Bor, underground commander, said today.

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Allied warships patrolling the Bay of Biscay and the channel coast around Brittany sank five enemy ships and possibly a sixth in a series of skirmishes Saturday, the Admiralty announced Sunday. Also announced was the loss of the British destroyers Iris and Quorn, three minesweepers and two trawlers in invasion operations.

At the service a deed to a lot adjoining the church ground was presented to the church by Mrs. Harry Lerew. Clair Shillito was chairman of the committee in charge of the service.

Two Demonstrations On Tomato Picking

County Agent M. T. Hartman announced today two field meetings for the discussion and demonstration of tomato picking and grading to be held Tuesday on two different farms.

The first will be held at 1:30 p. m. on the M. E. Knoose farm, formerly the G. W. Koser farm, near Flora Dale. The second is scheduled for 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Lloyd Rupp farm, near Latimore, on the hard road from the Worley Nursery at Latimore.

J. M. Huffington, vegetable extension specialist, will conduct the demonstrations. Hartman said the meetings were planned to assist growers in harvesting the "highest quality tomatoes."

"The better we are informed on tomato grades," he stated, "the better job we can do in picking tomatoes."

Rites Held Sunday For Charles Test

Funeral services for Charles Edwin Test, 77, Aspers R. 1, who died Thursday evening from a complication of diseases, were held from the late home Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock with further services at 9 o'clock at Trinity-Bender's Evangelical Reformed church, Biglerville, conducted by the Rev. Nevin R. Franzel. Interment in the Biglerville cemetery.

Completes Course In Wave Training

Sterling Singley is visiting in Donaldson.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson, William McKinna and David Bushman, second class petty officers, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bushman.

PHILIPPINES BOMBED AGAIN

(By The Associated Press)
U.S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Aug. 14—The fourth bombing of the Philippines in five days and new air blows north and south of Japan were portents today of a way moving west so fast that Adm. Chester W. Nimitz may have to advance his headquarters to catch up with it.

Underlining this tempo of offensive, Nimitz told a press conference the war may be won without invading Japan—although occupation "would be necessary to insure a winning peace"—and mentioned the possibility of American warships bombarding Nippon.

The commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet and Pacific ocean areas, in looking for new headquarters, even has his eye on the recently invaded Marianas, 3,000 miles away, more than 600 miles past Japanese-held Truk and within 1,500 miles of Tokyo.

It now can be disclosed that Nimitz, after momentous conferences here with President Roosevelt and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, went to Guam and Saipan, consulted fighting leaders there and just has returned, determined "to put the heat on as hard and fast as we can."

BATTLE HERE IS CAMPFIRE TOPIC

Dr. Frederick Tilberg, National park historian, discussed the strategy and course of the fight on the second day of the Battle of Gettysburg at a campfire program Sunday night at Cemetery hill.

Civil war photographs of earthworks and landmarks connected with the second day's battle were shown. Doctor Tilberg explained the development of the Union and Confederate battle lines on the hills and ridges south of Gettysburg and then pointed out the forward movement of Sickles' Union corps to the high ground at the Peach orchard.

He then showed the approach of Longstreet's corps from the Chambersburg road southward and in the rear of Seminary and Warfield ridges to prolong the Confederate battle line across the Emmitsburg road.

Also discussed were the plan of a coordinated attack by Longstreet against the Union position from Devil's Den to the Peach Orchard area and an attack by Ewell against Cemetery hill and Culp's hill, as well as the complete failure of coordination when the attacks got underway.

Human interest incidents of the battle were recounted and a discussion period followed the talk.

William H. Allison, superintendent of the National Cemetery, will speak next Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock on "The Third Day, Battle of Gettysburg."

FARM SOLD

In a deed filed today at the court house Arthur E. Livingston and James H. Livingston, executors of the estate of the late John W. Livingston, of Latimore township, transferred to Peter J. Griest, Latimore township, two properties totaling approximately 126 acres and 80 perches in Latimore township.

GRASS FIRE

Gettysburg firemen were called out shortly before 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon to put out a grass fire near Marsh Creek Heights. No damage was reported.

CALLS FIRE DRILL

Fire Chief James A. Aumen, announced today there will be a fire company drill Tuesday evening. Members are asked to report at the engine house at 6:45 p. m.

William Zinkand, Lincolnway East, formerly proprietor of "50-50 Bills" service station, has purchased hunting license No. 5050, County Treasurer John W. Brehm said today.

Wives File Actions In Two Divorces

Two libels in divorce were on entry today at the court house, the wives in both cases suing the husbands.

The first was entered by Edith M. (Shultz) Walter verses Jacob Blaine Walter, both of Franklin township. The papers listed the date of their marriage at October 21, 1935, and separation as September 21, 1941, when Mrs. Walter charged desertion on the part of her husband.

Grace M. (Snyder) Rose, Carlisle street, charged Robert G. Rose with cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities in her action. The date of their marriage was given as July 30, 1938, and the date of separation on or about January 15, 1944.

Music Director Takes Summer Work

Prof. Richard B. Shade, Reservoir avenue, returned Sunday from Princeton, New Jersey, where he completed the summer course at the Westminster Choir school.

Professor Shade, who is music director in the Gettysburg public schools and minister of music at St. James Lutheran church, studied conducting, vocal methods, choir, class work and organ at the Westminster school. In addition, he took private organ lessons with Dr. Alexander McCurdy, professor of organ at the Curtis Institute, Philadelphia. Mrs. Shade also was in Princeton with her husband and took a course in choir work.

Five Inductees Get Extra Examination

Five of the Adams county men sent to the Harrisburg induction station Friday in the August draft call of Local Board No. 2 at Gettysburg, were allowed to return to their homes pending the outcome of a further physical check-up.

All of the five had had their pre-induction physical examinations more than 90 days ago, the limit allowed by Selective Service regulations. The men will return to Harrisburg Tuesday for a further report.

The list of inductees furnished and published Friday incorrectly listed Woodrow Wilson Eckert, 68 West Middle street, as a non-father. Eckert is the father of two children.

WORLD CAN'T TRUST JAPS, FDR ASSERTS

By HOWARD FLEIGER

Bremerton, Wash., Aug. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt, tanned and healthy looking beneath the forward guns of a modern United States Navy destroyer, gave his solemn assurance here Saturday that never again would the Japanese empire be given the leeway to start another Pacific war.

The President spoke less than an hour after the destroyer had docked, bringing him from Alaska on the last leg of a Pacific tour of inspection that had taken him from California to the Hawaiian Islands, up to the Aleutians, through the fringe of what the Japanese call their "sphere of influence," and back down to the Puget Sound Navy yard here, where he made his report to the people.

Twenty thousand shipyard workers and naval personnel were his immediate audience, gathered around the drydock where the destroyer tied up. But through the radio, the world could hear him when he declared:

Reports On Trip

"The word and honor of Japan cannot be trusted."

The President told of his visit to defenses in California and the watching of amphibious landing practice at a training base there, of his conference with the Pacific war leaders at Pearl Harbor, where "complete accord both in the understanding of the problem that confronts us and in the opinion as to the best methods for its solution" was reached, and of "playing hooky" to catch a flounder and a halibut in the waters off Juneau, Alaska.

But throughout the speech ran the thread of determination that the defenses of the United States and of all the Americas must be so strong in the future that no would-be aggressor dare attempt to disturb the peace of the continent from the Antarctic to the Arctic circle.

At Hawaii, the President noted the rise from an island outpost to a major war base. He outlined the struggle for the Aleutians, invaded early in the war by the Japs, and the building of the bases there, adjacent to the shortest (great circle) route from Puget Sound to the Orient.

Years of Proof

"From the point of view of national defense," he said, "it is essential that our control of this route (the great circle) shall be undisputed. Everybody in Siberia and China knows that we have no ambition to acquire land on the continent of Asia. We as a people are utterly opposed to aggression or sneak attacks—but we as a people are insistent that other nations must not under any circumstances through the foreseeable future commit such attacks against the United States. Therefore, it is essential that we be fully prepared to prevent them for all time to come. The word and the honor of Japan cannot be trusted."

"It is an unfortunate fact that other nations can not trust Japan. It is an unfortunate fact that years must pass before we can trust Japan and before we can classify Japan as a member of the society of nations which seek permanent peace and whose word we can take."

Throughout his trip, which lasted just a month until he docked at the yard here, the President kept in close touch with the war on all fronts, and he assured his hearers that "the war is well in hand in this vast (Pacific) area."

Praise For Press, Radio

"But," he added, "I can not tell you, if I knew, when the war will be over either in Europe or in the Far East or the war against Japan."

"It will be over sooner if the people of this country will maintain the making of the necessary supplies and ships and planes."

The President digressed from his prepared address to pay a compliment to the press and radio of America, which kept the secret of his Pacific tour until it was ended, though the press associations and many newspapers had known of the trip from its start. "A modern miracle," he termed the fact so many groups and organizations would work so closely under a purely voluntary censorship code.

The fire started after an explosion which occurred when some liquid butane gas was being drawn into the compressing system, said Reid Leigh Heacock, chief marshal of the firm's fire department.

Last March four men were killed in an explosion at the plant.

NEW COLLEGE PREXY

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Rev. John J. Long, S.J., former rector of St. Ignatius Catholic church of Baltimore, is the new president of St. Joseph's college. He succeeds the Rev. Thomas J. Love, S.J., who will return to Georgetown university as a faculty member.

Executed By Japs

Navy Seaman Ferdinand Merin-golo (above) of Brooklyn, N. Y., was one of three American prisoners reported by the Navy to have been executed by Japanese on a charge that the Americans killed a police officer during an escape from a Manchurian war prison camp.

DEWEY GETTING SPEECHES READY

Pawling, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—Republican campaign managers put emphasis on the organizing of precincts today as presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey worked on speeches for early next month, when formal campaigning starts.

Dewey returns to Albany today from a week-end at Quaker Hill, farms, devoted almost entirely to drafting first campaign talks.

His only recreation was to play 18 holes of golf with three neighbors, Lynn Sumner, Carl T. Hogan and Charles Murphy.

The subjects, places and dates of his campaign talks were not disclosed. He will make a western swing sometime during the campaign.

Dewey, who makes a practice of seeing no political callers on visits here, consulted with state banking superintendent Elliott V. Bell, and gubernatorial secretary Paul Lockwood as he began preparing addresses.

The campaign has been kept carefully under wraps all summer to permit state and national leaders to devote most of their time to organizing, getting voters registered and arranging to transport them to the polls.

Ask Suggestions On Pulp Production

Harrisburg, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association said today it will award monthly prizes totaling $175 in war bonds to newspapers of less than 15,000 circulation, published in pulpwood producing areas, for suggesting the best ways of stimulating pulpwood production in Pennsylvania.

"The need for more pulpwood for war purposes is great," said William N. Hardy, ENPA manager, in announcing the contest. "Overseas requirements of the Army for paper, cardboard and other wood-pulp products are enormous and substantially in excess of anything that has been anticipated."

A first prize of a $100 war bond will be presented each month to the publisher, editor, general manager or whomever the winning newspaper designates for the best ideas contained in local news stories, local features, editorials, locally-solicited advertising and photographs. A second prize of a $50 bond and a third prize of a $25 bond also will be awarded.

To Gather Floss Of Milkweed Soon

State College, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—Local school officials were asked today to direct collection next month of 80,000 bags of milkweed floss for manufacture of life preservers.

"The pods ripen from September 1 to 15, varying by localities," said G. Harry Bowen, state director of the federal-sponsored program. "We want the school authorities to distribute special open-mesh bags to school children so they can begin picking it before the pods split open and the floss blows away."

Bowen said anyone collecting will be paid 20 cents a bag. Trucks will be provided to pick up the floss after it has been dried at collection stations for six weeks.

BOL ELECTROCUTED

Maple Shade, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—Josiah Stephenson, four, was electrocuted Sunday when a toy metal soldier he was playing with came in contact with an electric floor outlet, Deputy Coroner Arthur Boll reported.

POSA TO MEET

Reading, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—The 78th annual convention of the Patriotic Order Sons of America will be held here August 22 and 23.

WMC HELPING VETS LOCATE JOBS AT HOME

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Here's a soldier. Before the war he wasn't too happy in his civilian job. Maybe he was a salesman or a clerk. He went into the Army. He received special training.

Perhaps he learned to put pieces of machinery together and make them work. He found he had real skill with his hands. And he decided that when the war was over he never would go back to his old job.

He knows now, in a vague way, what he wants: A civilian job where he can use some of this new skill or knowledge acquired in the Army. But, and this bothers him, there isn't any civilian job exactly like his Army job.

To whom can he turn for advice? Where can he find out what kind of civilian job could use his new skill?

500-Page Book

There will be many thousands of men like that when the war ends, veterans who don't want to go back to their old jobs. And there will be those who went into the Army at 18 and never knew any job except the one the Army taught them.

Because all that is so, the War Manpower Commission has just completed a 500-page book on "job families," jobs that are related to one another. The Army helped in putting it together.

The book will be published by the government later this month. Hundreds of big industrial firms have put in their order for copies which will sell for $1 apiece.

Copies will be sent to all WMC regional and local offices and to the 1,500 offices of the U. S. Employment Service.

Listed By Families

It is to those USES offices that many discharged service men will go for help in finding a new kind of civilian job.

Those offices have counselors and interviewers to help place the veterans in jobs suitable to them. They will use the book on "job families" as a guide.

The related jobs—jobs that are similar in one way or another—are listed together as one family. Some families have only a few related jobs. Some take up pages.

Here is an example: John Jones doesn't want to go back to his old civilian job of clerking. In the Army he was trained to be an airplane armorer, gunner and after the war he wants work similar to that.

To Be A Guide

The "job family" book shows that he might fit into several kinds of civilian work: A testing machine operator, a gas-meter repairman, a vending machine assembler, or maybe a gunsmith.

Here's another: Tom Jones was a military policeman in the Army. Anything related to that in civilian life? The book lists some related jobs, such as claim adjuster, watchman, policeman, and even food inspector.

The book lists 23,000 civilian occupations. It doesn't contain all the answers for everyone. It's meant, as noted before, to be a guide, a kind of starting point in helping the job-hunting veteran.

1,100-Foot Pier Is Destroyed By Fire

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—A 1,100-foot pier in the Hudson river was almost completely destroyed early Saturday by fire which raged about four hours before being brought under control.

Acting Fire Chief Andrew H. Keller said the fire was of undetermined origin and began on a barge which was transferring its cargo to a ship moored at Pier No. 4. Keller said there was no indication of sabotage. He said there was no immediate estimate of the loss, but it was unofficially reported at $4,000,000.

Fourteen persons were taken to St. Mary's hospital for treatment of burns and smoke poisoning, while more than 50 others, including firemen, were given first aid treatment at the scene. Keller said none was seriously injured.

Three barges and a derrick moored at the pier were burned, one of the barges sinking. A Liberty ship and a foreign cargo vessel were towed to safety in the river from the pier before flames reached them. Edward L. McPeck, Hoboken police chief, reported.

Heavy New Attacks By Flying Bombs

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Flying bomb attacks on London and the southern counties increased from midnight until after dawn Saturday, with the assaults in the south heavier than they have been for some time.

Some robots appeared to be coming in on a new route from behind Boulogne.

Anti-aircraft defenses shot down a number in the coastal area. One flaming mass, after being hit over the sea, crashed into a residential district. Property was damaged and a fire started, but only one person was injured.

Meanwhile London holiday seekers crowded station platforms for trains to the north.

President Inspects Aleutians Base

A guard of honor salutes as the car bearing President Roosevelt moves through mist and rain on an inspection tour of a U. S. base in the Aleutians Islands early in August during his trip in the Pacific.

Hope House Will Defeat George Bill

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Reeling under a crushing Senate defeat of the Murray-Kilgore reconversion plan, administration Democrats today moved hopefully toward an attempt to revive in the House their program for higher federal benefits for war workers.

But several members of the House Ways and Means committee, which will start hearings Tuesday, made it clear they lean strongly toward the substitute "states' rights" bill of Senator George (D-Cal.), which Republicans and southern Democrats pushed to Senate passage last night.

Senate Majority Leader Markley (R-Ky.) swung to the Murray-Kilgore side in the closing Senate debate, and later made it clear the fight for federally-fixed payments to displaced war workers had not ended.

Compensation To Be paid On '37 Rate

Harrisburg, Aug. 14 (AP)—Compensation benefits for industrial injuries and deaths will be paid by the state workmen's insurance fund at rates, set by a 1937 law, Secretary William H. Chesnut of labor and industry has announced, pending a state supreme court ruling on their constitutionality.

The Dauphin county court last May enjoined Chesnut from enforcing or administering provisions of the 1937 act against employers and insurance companies and placed in effect lower rates set by a 1915 law, as amended prior to 1937.

Makes Wedding Gown Of 'Chute

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—When Sgt. Louis Baum of McKees Rocks gets through with this war business and marches down the aisle with his sweetheart, Marie Kovach, she'll be wearing a streamlined model of one of the war trophies he picked up during the invasion of Normandy.

Miss Kovach recently received a nylon parachute from Sgt. Baum, alone with a note: "You know what this could best be used for."

So she'll have her wedding gown made from it—but not the whole 25 yards, of course.

"I wonder if I could make stockings of the remnants," she mused.

"Ghost Heckler" On Berlin Radio

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—A "ghost heckler" broke in during pauses in the Berlin overseas radio newscast Saturday shoudding comments on Allied advances.

At the first pause the voice came in with: "The Russians are advancing. The Americans are advancing. The British are advancing."

When the station announcer said a Russian unit was surrounded, the heckler interrupted: "It's not true. That's a lie."

transport to farm vehicles—and even bicycles.

Thousands of Allied bombers and fighters, in the biggest air assault since D-Day, ripped with frightful toll yesterday at the congested columns of tanks, trucks and troops falling back all along the way to Paris. Despite this terrific aerial pounding, the withdrawal of Field Marshal Gen. Guenther von Kluge's Normandy Army—once 30 divisions strong and packed with the finest SS armored divisions in all France—was a retreat and not a rout.

Foe Is Desperate
How desperately the Germans wanted to retreat was shown by their daylight withdrawal Sunday in the face of massive Allied air strength.

The U. S. Eighth Air Force reported today that its fighter bombers had destroyed or damaged more than 6,000 railroad cars in operation over France in the last two days, along with 594 locomotives, 931 motor vehicles and more than 100 barges.

Among the railroad cars were 154 carrying ammunition, and 433 tank cars.

In addition U. S. Ninth Air Force fighter bombers knocked out 30 tanks, 144 railroad cars, two locomotives, 309 motorcycles, 30 horse-drawn vehicles, 49 gun positions and three ammunition dumps and cut rail lines at 11 places.

In the week ending yesterday, the Ninth Air Force reported, its fighter bombers chalked up a score of 170 tanks destroyed plus 90 probably destroyed or damaged, 1,798 motor vehicles destroyed and 440 damaged, 825 railroad cars destroyed, 49 probably destroyed, and 650 damaged.

But a British staff general at the front warned against over-optimism, remarking the Allies could make no rapid dash on Paris until they had mopped up German units passed by the Americans in their breakthrough. He also cited the problem of the lengthening Allied communication lines.

This officer said the Germans now probably would have to pull back their main supply depots to the Paris area because of Allied bombings.

Warn Civilians

Von Kluge's greatest worry, he continued, is that the German Army is only about 50 per cent mobile. The German commander also is severely handicapped in determining the strength and direction of the Allied thrusts because of his almost complete lack of aerial reconnaissance.

A spokesman for General Eisenhower tensioned wire near Johnstown.

More came Out of that Old Lunch Pail than went In

Big sandwiches with thick slices of bread helped to build the brawn that built America's industrial might.

War-time demands upon men and women, young and old, have brought us as a nation to a stern realization of the need for an adequate diet for all.

So today—in homes, in plant cafeterias and in restaurants large and small —America is wisely recognizing the nutritive importance of bread. Now enriched, it is the finest bread ever set before the human race... so good that our ancestors would have called it cake.

When you eat plenty of enriched bread, you improve your diet besides saving ration points for other good foods.

In addition to supplying the bakers of America with yeast, Anheuser-Busch manufactures glider and bomber fuselage frames, wing parts, gun turret parts and foodstuffs for the government, and produces other materials which go into the manufacture of: Rubber, Aluminum • Munitions • Medicines • B Complex Vitamins • Hospital Diets • Baby Foods • Bread and other Bakery products • Vitamin-fortified cattle feeds • Batteries • Paper Soap and Textiles—to name a few.

WORLD CAN'T TRUST JAPS, FDR ASSERTS

By HOWARD FLEIGER

Bremerton, Wash., Aug. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt, tanned and healthy looking beneath the forward guns of a modern United States Navy destroyer, gave his solemn assurance here Saturday that never again would the Japanese empire be given the leeway to start another Pacific war.

The President spoke less than an hour after the destroyer had docked, bringing him from Alaska on the last leg of a Pacific tour of inspection that had taken him from California to the Hawaiian Islands, up to the Aleutians, through the fringe of what the Japanese call their "sphere of influence," and back down to the Puget Sound Navy yard here, where he made his report to the people.

Twenty thousand shipyard workers and naval personnel were his immediate audience, gathered around the drydock where the destroyer tied up. But through the radio, the world could hear him when he declared:

Reports On Trip

"The word and honor of Japan cannot be trusted."

The President told of his visit to defenses in California and the watching of amphibious landing practice at a training base there; of his conference with the Pacific war leaders at Pearl Harbor, where "complete accord both in the understanding of the problem that confronts us and in the opinion as to the best methods for its solution" was reached, and of "playing hooky" to catch a flounder and a halibut in the waters off Juneau, Alaska.

But throughout the speech ran the thread of determination that the defenses of the United States and of all the Americas must be so strong in the future that no would-be aggressor dare attempt to disturb the peace of the continent from the Antarctic to the Arctic circle.

At Hawaii, the President noted the rise from an island outpost to a major war base. He outlined the struggle for the Aleutians, invaded early in the war by the Japs, and the building of the bases there, adjacent to the shortest (great circle) route from Puget Sound to the Orient.

Years of Proof

"From the point of view of national defense," he said, "it is essential that our control of this route (the great circle) shall be undisputed. Everybody in Siberia and China knows that we have no ambition to acquire land on the continent of Asia. We as a people are utterly opposed to aggression or sneak attacks—but we as a people are insistent that other nations must not under any circumstances through the foreseeable future commit such attacks against the United States. Therefore, it is essential that we be fully prepared to prevent them for all time to come. The word and the honor of Japan cannot be trusted."

"It is an unfortunate fact that other nations can not trust Japan, it is an unfortunate fact that years must pass before we can trust Japan and before we can classify Japan as a member of the society of nations which seek permanent peace and whose word we can take."

Throughout his trip, which lasted just a month until he docked at the yard here, the President kept in close touch with the war on all fronts, and he assured his hearers that "the war is well in hand in this vast (Pacific) area."

Praise For Press, Radio

"But," he added, "I can not tell you, if I knew, when the war will be over either in Europe or in the Far East or the war against Japan. It will be over sooner if the people of this country will maintain the making of the necessary supplies and ships and planes."

The President digressed from his prepared address to pay a compliment to the press and radio of America, which kept the secret of his Pacific tour until it was ended, though the press associations and many newspapers had known of the trip from its start. "A modern miracle," he termed the fact so many groups and organizations would work so closely under a purely voluntary censorship code.

Workers Burned In Refinery Blast

Marcus Hook, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—

Three workers were badly burned and compressing apparatus damaged Sunday when blazing fumes spread through an underground piping system at the new $13,000,000 high-octane gasoline refinery of the Sun Oil company.

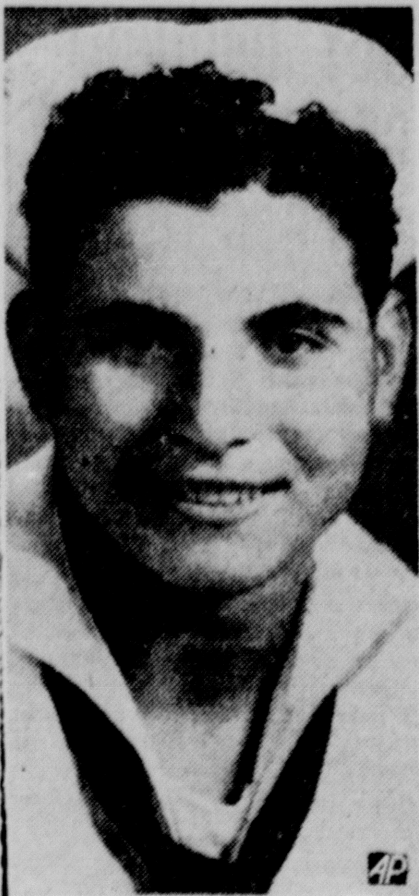

The fire started after an explosion which occurred when some liquid butane gas was being drawn into the compressing system, said Raleigh Heacock, chief Marshall of the firm's fire department.

Last March four men were killed in an explosion at the plant.

DEWEY GETTING SPEECHES READY

Pawling, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—Republican campaign managers put emphasis on the organizing of precincts today as presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey worked on speeches for early next month, when formal campaigning starts.

Dewey returns to Albany today from a week-end at Quaker Hill farms, devoted almost entirely to drafting first campaign talks.

His only recreation was to play 18 holes of golf with three neighbors, Lynn Sumner, Carl T. Hogan and Charles Murphy.

The subjects, places and dates of his campaign talks were not disclosed. He will make a western swing sometime during the campaign.

Dewey, who makes a practice of seeing no political callers on visits here, consulted with state banking superintendent Elliott V. Bell, and gubernatorial secretary Paul Lockwood as he began preparing addresses.

The campaign has been kept carefully under wraps all summer to permit state and national leaders to devote most of their time to organizing, getting voters registered and arranging to transport them to the polls.

Ask Suggestions On Pulp Production

Harrisburg, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association said today it will award monthly prizes totaling $175 in war bonds to newspapers of less than 15,000 circulation, published in pulpwood producing areas, for suggesting the best ways of stimulating pulpwood production in Pennsylvania.

"The need for more pulpwood for war purposes is great," said William N. Hardy, PNPA manager, in announcing the contest. "Overseas requirements of the Army for paper, cardboard and other wood-pulp products are enormous and substantially in excess of anything that has been anticipated."

A first prize of a $100 war bond will be presented each month to the publisher, editor, general manager or whomever the winning newspaper designates for the best ideas contained in local news stories, local features, editorials, locally-solicited advertising and photographs. A second prize of a $50 bond and a third prize of a $25 bond also will be awarded.

To Gather Floss Of Milkweed Soon

State College, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—Local school officials were asked today to direct collection next month of 80,000 bags of milkweed floss for manufacture of life preservers.

"The pods ripen from September 1 to 15, varying by localities," said G. Harry Bowen, state director of the federal-sponsored program. "We want the school authorities to distribute special open-mesh bags to school children so they can begin picking it before the pods split open and the floss blows away."

Bowen said anyone collecting will be paid 20 cents a bag. Trucks will be provided to pick up the floss after it has been dried at collection stations for six weeks.

WMC HELPING VETS LOCATE JOBS AT HOME

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Here's a soldier. Before the war he wasn't too happy in his civilian job. Maybe he was a salesman or a clerk. He went into the Army. He received special training.

Perhaps he learned to put pieces of machinery together and make them work. He found he had real skill with his hands. And he decided that when the war was over he never would go back to his old job.

He knows now, in a vague way, what he wants: A civilian job where he can use some of this new skill or knowledge acquired in the Army. But, and this bothers him, there isn't any civilian job exactly like his Army job.

To whom can he turn for advice? Where can he find out what kind of civilian job could use his new skill?

500-Page Book

There will be many thousands of men like that when the war ends, veterans who don't want to go back to their old jobs. And there will be those who went into the Army at 18 and never knew any job except the one the Army taught them.

Because all that is so, the War Manpower Commission has just completed a 500-page book on "job families," jobs that are related to one another. The Army helped in putting it together.

The book will be published by the government later this month. Hundreds of big industrial firms have put in their order for copies which will sell for $1 apiece.

Copies will be sent to all WMC regional and local offices and to the 1,500 offices of the U. S. Employment Service.

Listed By Families

It is to those USES offices that many discharged service men will go for help in finding a new kind of civilian job.

Those offices have counselors and interviewers to help place the veterans in jobs suitable to them. They will use the book on "job families" as a guide.

The related jobs—jobs that are similar in one way or another—are listed together as one family. Some families have only a few related jobs. Some take up pages.

Here is an example: John Jones doesn't want to go back to his old civilian job of clerking. In the Army he was trained to be an airplane armorer gunner and after the war he wants work similar to that.

To Be A Guide

The "job family" book shows that he might fit into several kinds of civilian work: A testing machine operator, a gas-meter repairman, a vending machine assembler, or maybe a gunsmith.

Here's another: Tom Jones was a military policeman in the Army. Anything related to that in civilian life? The book lists some related jobs, such as claim adjuster, watchman, policeman, and even food inspector.

The book lists 23,000 civilian occupations. It doesn't contain all the answers for everyone. It's meant, as noted before, to be a guide, a kind of starting point in helping the job-hunting veteran.

1,100-Foot Pier Is Destroyed By Fire

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—A 1,100-foot pier in the Hudson river was almost completely destroyed early Saturday by fire which raged about four hours before being brought under control.

Acting Fire Chief Andrew H. Keller said the fire was of undetermined origin and began on a barge which was transferring its cargo to a ship moored at Pier No. 4. Keller said there was no indication of sabotage. He said there was no immediate estimate of the loss, but it was unofficially reported at $4,000,000.

Fourteen persons were taken to St. Mary's hospital for treatment of burns and smoke poisoning, while more than 50 others, including firemen, were given first aid treatment at the scene. Keller said none was seriously injured.

Three barges and a derrick moored at the pier were burned, one of the barges sinking. A Liberty ship and a foreign cargo vessel were towed to safety in the river from the pier before flames reached them, Edward L. McPeckley, Hoboken police chief, reported.

Heavy New Attacks By Flying Bombs

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Flying bomb attacks on London and the southern counties increased from midnight until after dawn Saturday, with the assaults in the south heavier than they have been for some time.

Some robots appeared to be coming in on a new route from behind Boulogne. Anti-aircraft defenses shot down a number in the coastal area. One flaming mass, after being hit over the sea, crashed into a residential district. Property was damaged and a fire started, but only one person was injured.

Meanwhile London holiday seekers crowded station platforms for trains to the north.

Hope House Will Defeat George Bill

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Reeling under a crushing Senate defeat of the Murray-Kilgore reconversion plan, administration Democrats today moved hopefully toward an attempt to revive in the House their program for higher federal benefits for war workers.

But several members of the House Ways and Means committee, which will start hearings Tuesday, made it clear they lean strongly toward the substitute "states' rights" bill of Senator George (D-Ga.), which Republicans and southern Democrats pushed to Senate passage last night, 55 to 19.

Senate Majority Leader Markley (Ky) swung to the Murray-Kilgore side in the closing Senate debate, and later made it clear the fight for federally-fixed payments to displaced war workers had not ended.

Compensation To Be paid On '37 Rate

Harrisburg, Aug. 14 (AP)—Compensation benefits for industrial injuries and deaths will be paid by the state workmen's insurance fund at rates, set by a 1937 law, Secretary William H. Chesnut of labor and industry has announced, pending a state supreme court ruling on their constitutionality.

The Dauphin county court last May enjoined Chesnut from enforcing or administering provisions of the 1937 act against employers and insurance companies and placed in effect lower rates set by a 1915 law, as amended prior to 1937.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—When Sgt. Louis Baum of McKees Rocks gets through with this war business and marches down the aisle with his sweetheart, Marie Kowach, she'll be wearing a streamlined model of one of the war trophies he picked up during the invasion of Normandy.

Miss Kowach recently received a nylon parachute from Sgt. Baum, along with a note: "You know what this could best be used for."

So she'll have her wedding gown made from it—but not the whole 25 yards, of course.

"I wonder if I could make stockings of the remnants," she mused.

"Ghost Heckler" On Berlin Radio

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—A "ghost heckler" broke in during pauses in the Berlin overseas radio newscast Saturday shouldling comments on Allied advances.

At the first pause the voice came in with, "The Russians are advancing. The Americans are advancing. The British are advancing."

When the station announcer said a Russian unit was surrounded, the heckler interrupted: "It's not true. That's a lie."

The campaign has been kept carefully under wraps all summer to permit state and national leaders to devote most of their time to organizing, getting voters registered and arranging to transport them to the polls.

Ask Suggestions On Pulp Production

Harrisburg, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association said today it will award monthly prizes totaling $175 in war bonds to newspapers of less than 15,000 circulation, published in pulpwood producing areas, for suggesting the best ways of stimulating pulpwood production in Pennsylvania.

"The need for more pulpwood for war purposes is great," said William N. Hardy, PNPA manager, in announcing the contest. "Overseas requirements of the Army for paper, cardboard and other wood-pulp products are enormous and substantially in excess of anything that had been anticipated."

A first prize of a $100 war bond will be presented each month to the publisher, editor, general manager or whomever the winning newspaper designates for the best ideas contained in local news stories, local features, editorials, locally-solicited advertising and photographs. A second prize of a $50 bond and a third prize of a $25 bond also will be awarded.

To Gather Floss Of Milkweed Soon

State College, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—Local school officials were asked today to direct collection next month of 80,000 bags of milkweed floss for manufacture of life preservers.

"The pods ripen from September 1 to 15, varying by localities," said G. Harry Boven, state director of the federal-sponsored program. "We want the school authorities to distribute special open-mesh bags to school children so they can begin picking it before the pods split open and the floss blows away."

Boven said anyone collecting will be paid 20 cents a bag. Trucks will be provided to pick up the floss after it has been dried at collection stations for six weeks.

WMC HELPING VETS LOCATE JOBS AT HOME

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Here's a soldier. Before the war he wasn't too happy in his civilian job. Maybe he was a salesman or a clerk. He went into the Army. He received special training.

Perhaps he learned to put pieces of machinery together and make them work. He found he had real skill with his hands. And he decided that when the war was over he never would go back to his old job.

He knows now, in a vague way, what he wants: A civilian job where he can use some of this new skill or knowledge acquired in the Army. But, and this bothers him, there isn't any civilian job exactly like his Army job.

To whom can he turn for advice? Where can he find out what kind of civilian job could use his new skill?

500-Page Book

There will be many thousands of men like that when the war ends, veterans who don't want to go back to their old jobs. And there will be those who went into the Army at 18 and never knew any job except the one the Army taught them.

Because all that is so, the War Manpower Commission has just completed a 500-page book on "job families," jobs that are related to one another. The Army helped in putting it together.

The book will be published by the government later this month. Hundreds of big industrial firms have put in their order for copies which will sell for $1 apiece.

Copies will be sent to all WMC regional and local offices and to the 1,500 offices of the U. S. Employment Service.

Listed By Families

It is to those USES offices that many discharged service men will go for help in finding a new kind of civilian job.

Those offices have counselors and interviewers to help place the veterans in jobs suitable to them. They will use the book on "job families" as a guide.

The related jobs—jobs that are similar in one way or another—are listed together as one family. Some families have only a few related jobs. Some take up pages.

Here is an example: John Jones doesn't want to go back to his old civilian job of clerking. In the Army he was trained to be an airplane armorer gunner and after the war he wants work similar to that.

To Be A Guide

The "job family" book shows that he might fit into several kinds of civilian work: A testing machine operator, a gas-meter repairman, a vending machine assembler, or maybe a gunsmith.

Here's another: Tom Jones was a military policeman in the Army. Anything related to that in civilian life? The book lists some related jobs, such as claim adjuster, watchman, policeman, and even food inspector.

The book lists 23,000 civilian occupations. It doesn't contain all the answers for everyone. It's meant, as noted before, to be a guide, a kind of starting point in helping the job-hunting veteran.

1,100-Foot Pier Is Destroyed By Fire

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—A 1,100-foot pier in the Hudson river was almost completely destroyed early Saturday by fire which raged about four hours before being brought under control.

Acting Fire Chief Andrew H. Keller said the fire was of undetermined origin and began on a barge which was transferring its cargo to a ship moored at Pier No. 4. Keller said there was no indication of sabotage. He said there was no immediate estimate of the loss, but it was unofficially reported at $4,000,000.

Fourteen persons were taken to St. Mary's hospital for treatment of burns and smoke poisoning, while more than 50 others, including firemen, were given first aid treatment at the scene. Keller said none was seriously injured.

Three barges and a derrick moored at the pier were burned, one of the barges sinking. A Liberty ship and a foreign cargo vessel were towed to safety in the river from the pier before flames reached them, Edward L. McPeckley, Hoboken police chief, reported.

Heavy New Attacks By Flying Bombs

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Flying bomb attacks on London and the southern counties increased from midnight until after dawn Saturday, with the assaults in the south heavier than they have been for some time.

Some robots appeared to be coming in on a new route from behind Boulogne.

Anti-aircraft defenses shot down a number in the coastal area. One flaming mass, after being hit over the sea, crashed into a residential district. Property was damaged and a fire started, but only one person was injured.

Meanwhile London holiday seekers crowded station platforms for trains to the north.

Hope House Will Defeat George Bill

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Reeling under a crushing Senate defeat of the Murray-Kilgore reconversion plan, administration Democrats today moved hopefully toward an attempt to revive in the House their program for higher federal benefits for war workers.

But several members of the House Ways and Means committee, which will start hearings Tuesday, made it clear they lean strongly toward the substitute "states' rights" bill of Senator George (D-Ga.), which Republicans and southern Democrats pushed to Senate passage last night, 55 to 19.

Senate Majority Leader Markley (Ky) swung to the Murray-Kilgore side in the closing Senate debate, and later made it clear the fight for federally-fund payments to displaced war workers had not ended.

Compensation To Be paid On '37 Rate

Harrisburg, Aug. 14 (AP)—Compensation benefits for industrial injuries and deaths will be paid by the state workmen's insurance fund at rates, set by a 1937 law, Secretary William H. Chesnut of labor and industry has announced, pending a state supreme court ruling on their constitutionality.

The Dauphin county court last May enjoined Chesnut from enforcing or administering provisions of the 1937 act against employers and insurance companies and placed in effect lower rates set by a 1915 law, as amended prior to 1937.

Makes Wedding Gown Of 'Chute

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—When Sgt. Louis Baum of McKees Rocks gets through with this war business and marches down the aisle with his sweetheart, Marie Kowach, she'll be wearing a streamlined model of one of the war trophies he picked up during the invasion of Normandy.

Miss Kowach recently received a nylon parachute from Sgt. Baum, alone with a note: "You know what this could best be used for."

So she'll have her wedding gown made from it—but not the whole 25 yards, of course.

"I wonder if I could make stockings of the remnants," she mused.

"Ghost Heckler" On Berlin Radio

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—A "ghost heckler" broke in during pauses in the Berlin overseas radio newscast Saturday shouldtling comments on Allied advances.

At the first pause the voice came in with, "The Russians are advancing. The Americans are advancing. The British are advancing."

When the station announcer said a Russian unit was surrounded, the heckler interrupted: "It's not true. That's a lie."

POLIO FATAL

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—Dale Butler, 17, of Martinsburg, Blair county, died in Municipal hospital here yesterday of infantile paralysis, seventh victim since the outbreak in June. There have been 35 cases treated here in the past two months, 19 from Cambria county.

9TH POLIO DEATH

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—The ninth infantile paralysis death in two months was counted here when Paul Gary Bush, Jr., 7, of Uniontown, died yesterday in Children's hospital. The number of victims undergoing treatment here now totals 103, health officials reported.

More came Out of that Old Lunch Pail than went In

Big sandwiches with thick slices of bread helped to build the brawn that built America's industrial might.

Wartime demands upon men and women, young and old, have brought us as a nation to a stern realization of the need for an adequate diet for all.

So today—in homes, in plant cafeterias and in restaurants large and small

America is wisely recognizing the nutritive importance of bread. Now enriched, it is the finest bread ever set before the human race . . . so good that our ancestors would have called it cake.

When you eat plenty of enriched bread, you improve your diet besides saving ration points for other good foods.

In addition to supplying the bakers of America with yeast, Anheuser-Busch manufactures glider and bomber fuselage frames, wing parts, gun turret parts and foodstuffs for the government, and produces other materials which go into the manufacture of: Rubber Aluminum • Munitions • Medicines • B-Complex Vitamins • Hospital Diets • Baby Foods Soap and other Bakery products • Vitamin-fortified cattle feeds • Batteries • Paper Soap and Textiles—to name a few.

SERVING WITH 9TH AIR FORCE

A Ninth Air Force Service Command Unit, European Theatre of Operations (By Mail)—Supporting the Allied ground troops as they push on towards Berlin, the medium bombers, troop carriers, and fighter planes of the Ninth Air Force unload men and munitions on continental Europe. Little opposition by enemy fighter planes is seen, thanks to the wiping-out process done in past months by the Allies. Tighter and tighter grows the net of encirclement around the crumbling army of Hitler.

For every Allied plane in the air, there's a host of ground crew technicians who keep it flying. They are the men who equip, maintain service, and repair the aircraft before and after its onslaughts against Nazism. One of these specialists serving with the Ninth Air Force Service Command is Pvt. Charles R. Watson, 24, of Gettysburg. As an airplane and engine mechanic, assigned to a Service Squadron mobile unit, he works on many of the planes which are making history in the war. Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Watson, his parents, reside at Gettysburg. A brother, Pvt. Harold Watson, is serving with the Engineers at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Pvt. Charles Watson attended Gettysburg high school and was later employed by the C. H. Musselman company, Biglerville. In March, 1942, the soldier received Army basic training at Camp Crowder, Mo. Prior to his embarkation for foreign service early in 1943, he was stationed in Georgia, Louisiana, Florida and South Carolina.

hower warned French civilians in a broadcast to take cover when Allied planes approach and to avoid enemy routes of travel and bridges. He also asked them not to travel on bicycles during daylight because so much German transport has been destroyed that "the enemy now is moving troops on bicycles."

Since D-Day, Supreme Headquarters said, Allied planes have hit 70 German headquarters and are known to have killed one general—Major Gen. Ritter von Elber von Damm.

The most important domestic diamond field is in Pike County, Ark.

Johnstown, Aug. 14 (AP)—Static electricity built up along dead wires by heat and humidity was blamed for the death by electrocution yesterday of Ervin Z. Adams, 55, of Commodore, a lineman for the New York Central Coal Mining division. Fellow employees said all switches along the line had been thrown at the time Adams climbed a pole to splice a wire. He died instantly when he reached for the wire.

Just Folks

GEN. THEODORE ROOSEVELT

He who sleeps in France today
Dared to wear his life away
To the last ounce, rather than
Fail his God and fellow man.Never was he heard to ask
For a safe and easy task.
True, in face of death, he stood
To his faith in brotherhood.For the cause so much he cared,
Never once himself he spared.
Now forever he will be
One who died for liberty.Sometime in the peace to be
Where he sleeps, will children free
Come with flowers, as tribute glad,
For this gallant friend they had.

Today's Talk

THE INDEPENDENT MIND

Of all natural resources in this world, the most valuable remain in the mind of man, and it is both his duty and his privilege to discover them, preserve them, and put them into usefulness.

It was meant by the Creator of this mind of ours that it should grow and develop naturally, without interference. Its ownership was never meant to be farmed out. It is man's personal citadel—his whole possession, presented to him in fee simple. If he mortgages it, he might just as well not have been given ownership of it in the first place.

It has become the gross habit of a large number of human beings in this money-excursing world to neglect the great wealth that is of full inheritance, in the mind itself, and to spurn the opportunity for making of it an independent realm of power and usefulness. The independent mind may not be the happiest, but certainly it can be made the proudest.

Without freedom of speech and opinion, and the independence of mind to proclaim them, there can be no great civilizations established anywhere. To preserve these precious inheritances we have wars and revolutions. Men give their lives to preserve them for their children, and their children's children. To such we owe all that we are and have in a free land.

None of the books of Emerson were "first sellers" in his day though many of his books, notably his essays, are continually being selected and read. "To the end of his day," wrote Edgar Lee Masters, "he went about earning his living by lecturing, without help from his government or anyone, and thus preserving his independence."

In all times it is to be noted the bawling of independence of thought, and honest convictions, for mere messes of pottage and temporary acclaim, and how fleeting are their gains! Yet how stimulating and energizing are the thoughts and expressions of those who refuse to budge from their highly prized independence of mind.

Mother Rescues Two Children

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—An old home-made ladder and quick thinking by a mother was credited with saving the lives of two children when flames leveled the John Kopsic home at Twin Rocks Saturday.

Mrs. Kopsic, working outside the house, attempted to get to an upstairs bedroom to arouse the children but was blocked by flames. She found the home-made ladder and succeeded in bringing her daughter, 9, and grandson, 7, through a window to safety.

INTERNATIONAL AIR FORCE FOR PEACE LOOMS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Peace-time use of an international air force with its swift and deadly striking power operating at the command of a council of nations is considered certain to come up for discussion at forthcoming United Nations security talks here.

The idea has recently been put forward in Russian quarters which, at the same time, express opposition to the creation of any international police force such as ground troops and naval units.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate to the peace talks, told a news conference it had been talked about and added that "use of force is one of the large subjects" on which the talks will be concentrated.

Optimistic Outlook

Cadogan, meeting reporters at the British embassy yesterday, professed frank optimism about the accomplishments of the conference opening a week from today and disclosed that much preliminary work has already been done.

As a result, he made clear, Britain and the United States are in accord on the main outlines of their world peace organization plans and Russia and China have been kept informed of the British and American proposals. Last week the Russians submitted a document presumably setting forth their plans but Cadogan said he had not had opportunity to study it.

Questioned about President Roosevelt's mid-June statement declaring for an organization backed by force and made up of all peace-loving nations, organized into an assembly and a council, Cadogan said "there is nothing in the statement to which we should care to take exception."

"Peace Police"

He emphasized that he expects the talks here to result primarily in agreement on points commonly supported by the United States, British and Russian governments—and later the Chinese—and secondly on points upon which differences exist.

Same American planners for the talks to be held at the Dumbarton Oaks estate are seriously considering the creation of special peace police by earmarking a portion of the Army, Navy and Air Forces of each nation for peace-enforcement purposes.

Congress would be asked to authorize in advance the use of a part of the nation's armed forces for employment anywhere in the world to suppress aggression and enforce peace any time the world organization called on the United States for such forces.

'Big Inch' Does Work Of 23,000 Tank Cars

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—The world's biggest oil pipeline, a $95,000,000 project of 1,363 miles from Longview, Tex., (through Adams county) to the New York-Philadelphia area, begins its second year of operations today. Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes, announced.

A total of 96,292,000 barrels of crude oil have been delivered by the "big inch" line, which has done the work of 23,000 tank cars operating on an 18-day turnaround schedule, Ickes said.

"If the line had not been operating, we would not have been able to keep the United Nations' fighting forces in the Mediterranean and European theaters of operations fully supplied while meeting all essential industrial and domestic needs," Ickes declared.

The delivery of Texas crude oil through the line to eastern refineries has prevented what could easily have developed into a catastrophic oil shortage along the Atlantic seaboard," he reported.

Actual construction on this line started August 3 at Little Rock, Ark. First oil was pumped into the line December 31, 1942, at Longview, Tex., and the first crude oil was received at Norris City, Ill., February 13, 1943, Paw said. Oil arrived at Phoenixville Junction and at refineries in the Philadelphia area August 14, 1943.

From Longview to Phoenixville Junction, Pa., 24 pump stations speed the crude oil through 1,254 miles of seamless 14-inch pipe. At Phoenixville Junction the line splits into two 20-inch branches, one to Linden, N. J., the other into the Philadelphia area. A pump station at Phoenixville Junction and a booster station serve the branch lines.

Addressing the Blair county unit of the Pennsylvania CIO-Political Action committee, Sen. Guffey said:

"Organized labor under the leadership of Phil Murray and the CIO is one of the most dynamic sources of social action and the only testing ground of political leadership in modern America."

"On you, the men and women who staff out giant industries, depends to a great extent the hope for liberalism and organized labor. This is labor's responsibility and labor's opportunity."

JULY DROUGHT
COST FARMERS
$16,000,000

Harrisburg, Aug. 14 (AP)—The July drought cost Pennsylvania farmers some $16,000,000 in crop yields but the agriculture department looks for 1944 harvests to top last year's by millions of bushels. Although corn, oats, hay and potatoes were the hardest hit, the department said only buckwheat and had showed decreased yields per acre on August 1.

The department's federal-state crop reporting agency said estimates on corn production were 54,522,000, an increase of 5,350,000 bushels over last year but a decrease of almost 7,000,000 bushels—a $10,000,000 drop—from July 1 estimates.

Other production comparisons by the agency:
Tobacco estimates dropped 3,342,000 pounds in July, a $621,000 loss based on 1943 prices.

Topping 1943 Yields

Potato prospects fell 1,650,000 bushels, or $2,877,000, but a yield of 115 bushels—nine more than last year—is still in prospect. The harvest may total 19,000,000 bushels, a boost of 300,000 bushels over 1943. Oats yields are estimated at 24,128,000, more than 9,250,000 bushels above last year but showing a $790,000 drought loss.

Hay fell 152 to 140 tons per acre with dry weather cutting the value by $1,733,100.

The department also said buckwheat production is estimated at 2,983,000 bushels, an increase of 475,000 bushels over 1943, while winter wheat production at 20,108,000 bushels, a gain of 6,831,000 bushels.

FIRST NEGRO ON BUS RUN TODAY

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP)—The first negro operator of a Philadelphia Transportation company trolley began regular passenger runs today as the Army withdrew all guards from trolleys, buses and subway and elevated trains.

Two other negro operators were scheduled to start regular runs during the day. The three among eight negro trainees, whose upgrading to operating jobs caused a walkout August 1, tying up Philadelphia mass transportation for five days and resulting in Army seizure of the system.

Four additional employees who failed to obey the Army's ultimatum to return to work or be fired were discharged and their names referred to Selective Service. One of the four, Thomas A. Quikley, an operator, also was referred to the War Manpower Commission, indicating that he would be affected by Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes' order that strikers would be denied certificates of availability for employment for the duration of the war.

Four strike leaders, discharged last week and charged with violation of the Smith-Connally Act, were scheduled for hearing before United States Commissioner Norman J. Griffin today. All pleaded innocent upon arraignment.

"DEAD" WIRE FATAL

Johnstown, Aug. 14 (AP)—Static electricity built up along dead wires by heat and humidity was blamed for the death by electrocution yesterday of Ervin Z. Adams, 55, of Commodore, a lineman for the New York Central Coal Mining division. Fellow employees said all switche along the line had been thrown at the time Adams climbed a pole to splice a wire. He died instantly when he reached for the wire.

GEN. THEODORE ROOSEVELT
He who sleeps in France today
Dared to wear his life away
To the last ounce, rather than
Fail his God and fellow man.

Never was he heard to ask
For a safe and easy task.
True, in face of death, he stood
To his faith in brotherhood.

For the cause so much he cared,
Never once himself he spared.
Now forever he will be
One who died for liberty.

Sometime in the peace to be

Today's Talk

THE INDEPENDENT MIND

Of all natural resources in this world, the most valuable remain in the mind of man, and it is both his duty and his privilege to discover them, preserve them, and put them into usefulness.

It was meant by the Creator of this mind of ours that it should grow and develop naturally, without interference. Its ownership was never meant to be farmed out. It is man's personal citadel—his whole possession, presented to him in fee simple. If he mortgages it, he might just as well not have been given ownership of it in the first place.

It has become the gross habit of a large number of human beings in this money-excursing world to neglect the great wealth that is of full inheritance, in the mind itself, and to spurn the opportunity for making of it an independent realm of power and usefulness. The independent mind may not be the happiest, but certainly it can be made the proudest.

Without freedom of speech and opinion, and the independence of mind to proclaim them, there can be no great civilizations established anywhere. To preserve these precious inheritances we have wars and revolutions. Men give their lives to preserve them for their children, and their children's children. To such we owe all that we are and have in a free land.

None of the books of Emerson were "first sellers" in his day though many of his books, notably his essays, are continually being selected and read. "To the end of his day," wrote Edgar Lee Masters, "he went about earning his living by lecturing, without help from his government or anyone, and thus preserving his independence."

Mother Rescues Two Children

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—An old home-made ladder and quick thinking by a mother was credited with saving the lives of two children when flames leveled the John Kopsic home at Twin Rocks Saturday.

Mrs. Kopsic, working outside the house, attempted to get to an upstairs bedroom to arouse the children but was blocked by flames. She found the home-made ladder and succeeded in bringing her daughter, 9, and grandson, 7, through a window to safety.

INTERNATIONAL AIR FORCE FOR PEACE LOOMS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Peace-time use of an international air force with its swift and deadly striking power operating at the command of a council of nations is considered certain to come up for discussion at forthcoming United Nations security talks here.

The idea has recently been put forward in Russian quarters which, at the same time, express opposition to the creation of any international police force such as ground troops and naval units.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate to the peace talks, told a news conference it had been talked about and added that "use of force is one of the large subjects" on which the talks will be concentrated.

Optimistic Outlook
Cadogan, meeting reporters at the British embassy yesterday, professed frank optimism about the accomplishments of the conference opening a week from today and disclosed that much preliminary work has already been done.

As a result, he made clear, Britain and the United States are in accord on the main outlines of their world peace organization plans and Russia and China have been kept informed of the British and American proposals. Last week the Russians submitted a document presumably setting forth their plans but Cadogan said he had not had opportunity to study it.

Questioned about President Roosevelt's mid-June statement declaring for an organization backed by force and made up of all peace-loving nations, organized into an assembly and a council, Cadogan said "there is nothing in the statement to which we should care to take exception."

"Peace Police"
He emphasized that he expects the talks here to result primarily in agreement on points commonly supported by the United States, British and Russian governments—and later the Chinese—and secondly on points upon which differences exist.

Same American planners for the talks to be held at the Dumbarton Oaks estate are seriously considering the creation of special police by earmarking a portion of the Army, Navy and Air Forces of each nation for peace-enforcement purposes.

Congress would be asked to authorize in advance the use of a part of the nation's armed forces for employment anywhere in the world to suppress aggression and enforce peace any time the world organization called on the United States for such forces.

Flashes Of Life
DO-RE-MI NOTE

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Pvt. William V. Kalish, some where overseas, decided that—his comrades permitting—he should continue practicing his vocal exercises.

The United Service organizations turned over his request for a chromatic pitch pipe to the American academy of teachers of singing, who not only sent the pipe but offered Kalish an audition upon his return.

PARBOILED
New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—The temperature outside was a mere 94 degrees but inside a Bronx apartment house it was getting hotter by the minutes. Someone turned in a fire alarm.

Guided to the basement by billows of steam, firemen found that the building's automatic heat system had gone haywire and was functioning for winter operation.

HAY-DAY
Marysville, Kans. (AP)—Seventy-eight farmers at Harold Ottiger's auction wanted to buy a hayloader. They all wrote checks at the OPA ceiling price, tossed them in an empty cream can, and a bystander drew out the check of Henry Bergerding—the winner!

Fireboats pour water on a fire during the night which almost completely destroyed Pier 4, Hoboken, N. J., across the Hudson River from New York city, and was brought under control only after a four-hour battle. Damage ran into the millions.

"Big Inch" Does Work Of 23,000 Tank Cars

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—The world's biggest oil pipeline, a $95,000,000 project of 1,363 miles from Longview, Tex., (through Adams county) to the New York-Philadelphia area, begins its second year of operations today. Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes, announced.

A total of 96,292,000 barrels of crude oil have been delivered by the "big inch" line, which has done the work of 23,000 tank cars operating on an 18-day turnaround schedule, Ickes said.

"If the line had not been operating, we would not have been able to keep the United Nations' fighting forces in the Mediterranean and European theaters of operations fully supplied while meeting all essential industrial and domestic needs," Ickes declared.

"The delivery of Texas crude oil through the line to eastern refineries has prevented what could easily have developed into a catastrophic oil shortage along the Atlantic seaboard," he reported.

Actual construction on this line started August 3 at Little Rock, Ark. First oil was pumped into the line December 31, 1942, at Longview, Tex., and the first crude oil was received at Norris City, Ill., February 13, 1943, Paw said. Oil arrived at Phoenixville Junction and at refineries in the Philadelphia area August 14, 1943.

From Longview to Phoenixville Junction, Pa., 24 pump stations speed the crude oil through 1,254 miles of seamless 14-inch pipe. At Phoenixville Junction the line splits into two 20-inch branches, one to Linden, N. J., the other into the Philadelphia area. A pump station at Phoenixville Junction and a booster station serve the branch lines.

Addressing the Blair county unit of the Pennsylvania CIO-Political Action committee, Sen. Guffey said: "Organized labor under the leadership of Phil Murray and the CIO is one of the most dynamic sources of social action and the only testing ground of political leadership in modern America."

"On you, the men and women who staff out giant industries, depends to a great extent the hope for liberalism and organized labor. This is labor's responsibility and labor's opportunity."

Recently there appeared this filler: "The 21st verse of the 7th chapter of Ezra in the Bible contains every letter in the alphabet."

Less than 24 hours later William Voorhees, Seminary avenue, phoned to correct that statement. He said the 21st verse of the 7th chapter of Ezra does not contain all the letters of the alphabet. He said the letter "J" is missing. He's right. Here's the verse:

Midshipman Cline is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and attended Gettysburg college for two years and a half. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. On December 1, 1942 he enlisted in the Navy V-12 program and was sent on July 1, 1943 to Muhlenberg college, Allentown, for eight months' training. He graduated from there in February of this year and was then sent to the Midshipman's School at Camp McDonough, Plattsburg, N. Y., for further training.

On June 24, three days before he was graduated as an Ensign he was severely injured in an accidental fall which required that he be placed in a body cast. He was sent to St. Alban's Naval hospital, Long Island, for hospitalization and his wedding to Miss Trew, scheduled to take place on June 28, was postponed.

On August 8 he was given special permission from the Navy department to be married.

The newlyweds will live at Kew Gardens until Midshipman Cline completes his hospitalization at which time he will receive his commission and be assigned to active duty.

Mrs. Cline returned to Gettysburg over the week-end and will return this week to Kew Gardens.

CHILD SCALDED

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—Glenn Austin, Jr., 20 months old, of Verona, died yesterday in Columbia hospital of scald burns suffered when he tumbled in a bucket of boiling water his father was using to clean chickens.

90 per cent held the stoppage not justified while 5 per cent answered that it was justified and 5 per cent gave no opinion.

Nearly one-half of all tuberculosis deaths occur between the ages of 20 and 45 years.

The first bananas to arrive in New York were brought from Cuba in 1805.

What You Buy With WAR STAMPS

When the American Expeditionary Force landed in Ireland recently newspapers reported the citizenry remarked at the similarity of the steel helmets worn by our boys with those worn by German troops. These steel hats are protection from shrapnel fragments and other light missiles. We need thousands of them for they are a regular issue to every American soldier.

A smart strap fastens under the chin and they are padded for comfort. One steel helmet costs $5 so every time you fill a $5 stamp book you are buying protection for an American soldier. The Schools of War program will show you how to do your bit for our armed forces through the regular purchase of War Savings Stamps.

What You Buy With WAR STAMPS

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.

These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. ## PLAN DISCUSSION

The Honor Roll of McSherrytown will be dedicated sometime after Labor Day, it was announced by T. Ambrose Elime, chairman of the Honor Roll committee, when the McSherrytown council held its monthly meeting Thursday evening. Mr. Elime stated that the work on the honor roll itself is practically completed.

How Allies May Drive Into Southern France

WALKOUT ENDS

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 14 (AP)—The Worth Steel company plant at Claymont, Del., returned to full operation today, ending a five-day walkout last week. A company spokesman announced. Approximately 980 men at the plant, which is doing Navy work, were involved in a dispute over wages.

STATIONED AT BAINBRIDGE

Charles Miller, son of Mrs. D. L. Miller, who recently enlisted in the Navy, has been sent to Bainbridge, Md., for training. He is the fourth son of Mrs. Miller to enter the service, two being in the Army. A son-in-law is also in the Army.

Chapter 3

Lucky moved over and Thad took the place beside her, so close she could feel the smooth texture of his broadcloth sleeve against her arm. "Now tell Uncle Ebenzer all about it."

She snuck her head freely. "There's nothing to tell. I'm not of tender maiden status. To tell you I didn't expect it."

"And I wasn't there to signal to me terribly sorry, Lucky. I got a telephone call. I couldn't help it. Really I couldn't."

She wanted so much to believe him. "It was all right," she insisted and a left-over sob caught in her throat and gave her away.

"Poor little bird," he said gently. "Out here all by herself having a good cry." He pulled the folded handkerchief from his breast pocket and dabbed at her eyes. "Now, blow! Feel better?"

She nodded. "You always make people feel better don't you?"

"Not — always."

She heard the troubled reservation in his voice. "Anything troubling you, Thad?"

"No. And yes. Let's not talk about me. Lucky, you've said in such a clump!"

"No, I'm all right. I love hearing you talk."

"Put my coat on then."

"Oh, not."

He turned half teasing. "Share it? Like this?" He put his arms around her, drew her close so that she was against the warm wall of his chest. Her heart expanded inside her like a great balloon, almost bursting with emotion. She was driven by a throbbing, pulsing excitement. And then, as suddenly as it had come, it flowed out of her, and with it, her strength, leaving her spent and breathless.

He said, "You were cold. I can feel you trembling. Do you mind this Lucky? I won't, if you'd rather not."

"I don't — mind."

"It's funny. I did this, honestly, just to keep you warm. But I like having you here. You're sweet, Lucky." He put his face against her hair.

She held herself still, afraid almost to breathe for fear it would tear something out of this moment. Every nerve in her body was alive now, alive and sensing this, as one might sense an exquisite flower, a rare and lovely flower, that might never bloom again. She was still, and then moved by some compulsion beyond her reasoning, she slid her head slowly back and back. They stayed there a moment, the two of them, her cheek against his, her lips beside his. Then he turned his head, and she went swooning down into the depths and soaring into the heights of Thad's kiss.

For that moment she was beyond reason, beyond thinking. All her life seemed nothing till this moment, prelude to love. She thought, He doesn't love Di. He loves me. She knew ecstasy.

Then brusquely Thad released her. "Sorry, Lucky!" His voice was harsh. "I shouldn't have done that!"

He got to his feet. She stared up at him, dazed, not understanding.

"Forget it. Will you Lucky?" In the silence they heard voices coming down the garden toward them.

Di called, "Is that you, daddy? Go to the house. We need a guest. It's time to tell them good-bye."

Lucky stood up. "Coming," she answered. With all her mustered strength she went on, even infusing the words with a gaiety that sounded almost natural. "I made Thad sit out with me. I couldn't make my dancing on them any longer."

It was Pudge with Di. Life asked suspiciously, "O.K. now? Aren't you refrigerated?"

Lucky had braced. "No. Thad is. I made him give me his coat. I hope your family doesn't go in for pneumonia. Thad."

He laughed shortly. "No," he said. "They shoot themselves."

Aunt Diane was in the hall, lowering her guests. Her eyes went to Di's face in a quick, demanding glance. Di elevated one eyebrow and shrugged. Worried lines made a double crease in Aunt Diane's forehead.

"Loretta," she said, "I don't want to be severe with you, but as guest of honor..."

The dance seemed far away and unimportant, but Lucky said gently, "I'm sorry, Aunt Diane. It isn't that I don't appreciate the party. I—I got a little homesick for the Islands. That's all. I'm all right now."

Behind her, Thad asked Di, "Your father gone to bed? I'd like to see him tonight."

"He's around. I'll help you find him."

They went down the hall together. Pudge watched them go. Aunt Diane was watching them too. "Watch! It's cute of them to pretend?" she whispered to Lucky. Her voice had urgency in it.

"Pretend?" she didn't want to ask, but she had to.

"That's casualness. It didn't fool me. I've been expecting this for days." She glanced at Lucky to see if she'd made her point.

"Oh, he has to love me!" Lucky thought. But if she had met him too late?

Resolutely she turned toward her aunt. "You mean—" Her voice balked there, but she forced it on. Determined now to go all the way through with this—"you mean they're engaged?"

Aunt Diane nodded, her eyes softened, watching Di and Thad turn into the study. "They make a running couple, don't they?"

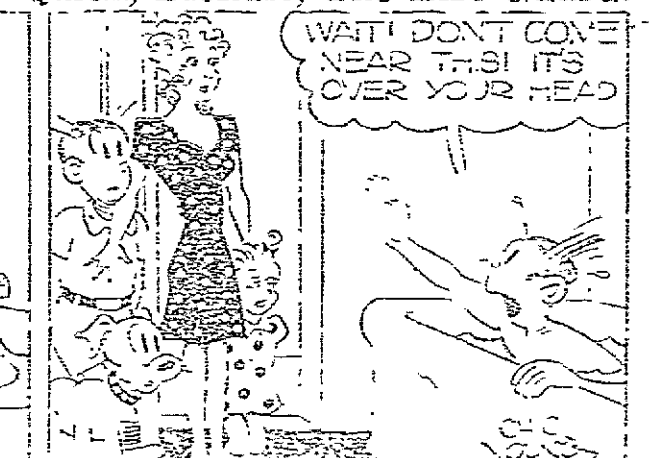

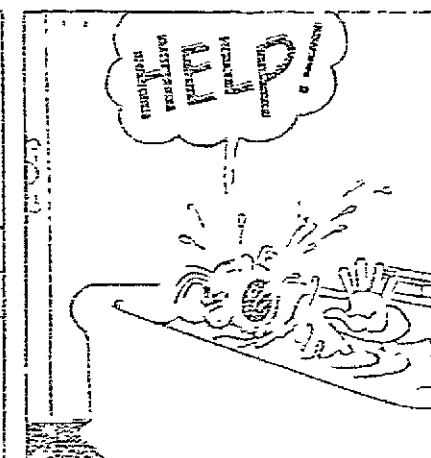

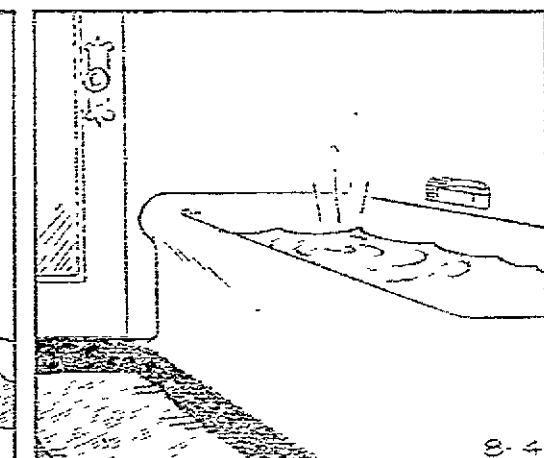

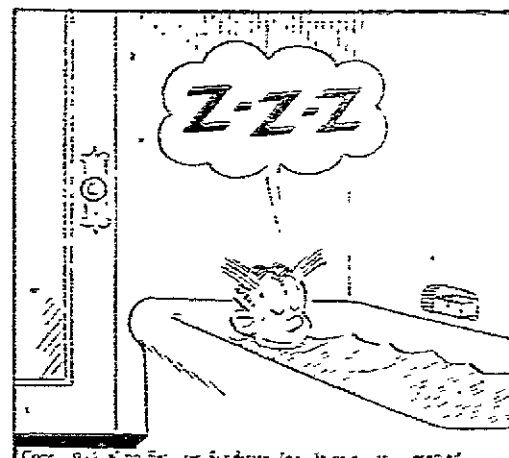

Lucky could hardly see them for the mist before her eyes. "Yes," she said dully, and then again. "Yes."

Philadelphians Frown On Strike

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Evening Bulletin Public Opinion poll reported today that 63.5 per cent of Philadelphians questioned held that transportation strikers were not justified. Eleven per cent said they had no opinion on whether the tieup, called when negroes were upgraded to trolley operating jobs, was justified.

Asked whether competent negroes should be hired for such jobs, 52.3 per cent said yes; 37.4 per cent said no, and 10.3 said they had no opinion.

Negroes answered 92.5 per cent in favor of employment of negroes, 7.5 per cent expressing no opinion.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

to get me a canteen of water. "A better thought for 'Good Evening' the next time."

In nearly every edition of The Times readers may note one, two, three and four line "fillers," brief little statements prepared by The Associated Press to fill in at the bottom of news columns when needed.

Recently there appeared this filler:

"The 21st verse of the 7th chapter of Ezra in the Bible contains every letter in the alphabet."

Less than 24 hours later William Voorhees, Seminary avenue, phoned to correct that statement. He said the 21st verse of the 7th chapter of Ezra does not contain all the letters of the alphabet. He said the letter "J" is missing. He's right. Here's the verse:

"And I, even I, Artaxerxes, the king, do make a decree to all the treasurers which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra, the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of Heaven shall require of you, it shall be done speedily."

These might be gentle reminders of the seventy-first verse of "The Rubaiyat Of Khayyam":

"The Moving Finger writes; and, having writ, Moves on: nor all your Piety nor Wit Shall lure it back to cancel half a Line, Nor all your Tears wash out a Word of it."

MISS TREW AND

Midshipman Cline is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and attended Gettysburg college for two years and a half. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. On December 1, 1942 he enlisted in the Navy V-12 program and was sent on July 1, 1943 to Muhlenberg college, Allentown, for eight months' training. He graduated from there in February of this year and was then sent to the Midshipman's School at Camp McDonough, Plattsburg, N. Y., for further training.

On June 24, three days before he was graduated as an Ensign he was severely injured in an accidental fall which required that he be placed in a body cast. He was sent to St. Alban's Naval hospital, Long Island, for hospitalization and his wedding to Miss Trew, scheduled to take place on June 28, was postponed.

On August 8 he was given special permission from the Navy department to be married.

The newlyweds will live at Kew Gardens until Midshipman Cline completes his hospitalization at which time he will receive his commission and be assigned to active duty.

Mrs. Cline returned to Gettysburg over the week-end and will return this week to Kew Gardens.

CHILD SCALDED

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—Glenn Austin, Jr., 20 months old, of Verona, died yesterday in Columbia hospital of scald burns suffered when he tumbled in a bucket of boiling water his father was using to clean chickens.

90 per cent held the stoppage not justified while 5 per cent answered that it was justified and 5 per cent gave no opinion.

Nearly one-half of all tuberculosis deaths occur between the ages of 20 and 45 years.

The first bananas to arrive in New York were brought from Cuba in 1804.

What You Buy With WAR STAMPS

When the American Expeditionary Force landed in Ireland recently newspapers reported the citizenry remarked at the similarity of the steel helmets worn by our boys with those worn by German troops. These steel hats are protection from shrapnel fragments and other light missiles. We need thousands of them for they are a regular issue to every American soldier.

A smart strap fastens under the chin and they are padded for comfort. One steel helmet costs $5 so every time you fill a $5 stamp book you are buying protection for an American soldier. The Schools at War program will show you how to do your bit for our armed forces through the regular purchase of War Savings Stamps.

Five - Alarm Coney Island Fire

What You Buy With WAR STAMPS

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.

These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps can buy many of these beds for the Army. You'll sleep better if you know our boys have every hospital comfort. Buy War Savings Stamps weekly through an effective School program.

PLAN DEDICATION

The Honor Roll of McSherrystown will be dedicated sometime after Labor Day, it was announced by T. Ambrose Eline, chairman of the Honor Roll committee, when the McSherrystown council held its monthly meeting Thursday evening. Mr. Eline stated that the work on the honor roll itself is practically completed.

Charles Miller, son of Mrs. D. L. Miller, who recently enlisted in the Navy, has been sent to Bainbridge, Md., for training. He is the fourth son of Mrs. Miller to enter the service, two being in the Army. A son-in-law is also in the Army.

WALKOUT ENDS

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 14 (AP)—The Worth Steel company plant at Claymont, Del., returned to full operation today, ending a five-day walkout last week, a company spokesman announced. Approximately 950 men at the plant, which is doing Navy work, were involved in a dispute over wages.

CUPID'S CASTAWAY

by MARTHA PREWITT

Chapter 8

Lucky moved over and Thad took the place beside her, so close she could feel the smooth texture of his broadcloth sleeve against her arm. "Now tell Uncle Ebenezer all about it."

She shook her head tiredly. "There's nothing to tell. I'm not of course much success at the ball. I hadn't expected it."

"And I wasn't there to signal to! I'm terribly sorry, Lucky. I got a telephone call. I couldn't help it. Really I couldn't."

She wanted so much to believe him. "It was all right," she insisted and a left-over sob caught in her throat and gave her away.

"Poor little kid," he said gently. "Out here all by herself having a good cry." He pulled the folded handkerchief from his breast pocket and dabbed at her eyes. "Now, blow! Feel better?"

She nodded. "You always make people feel better, don't you?" "Not — always."

She heard the troubled reservation in his voice. "Anything worrying you, Thad?"

"No. And yes. Let's not talk about me. Lucky, you're cold! I'm such a chump!"

"No. I'm all right. I love hearing you talk."

"Put my coat on then."

"Oh, no!"

He turned half teasing. "Share it? Like this?" He put his arms around her, drew her close so that she was against the warm wall of his chest. Her heart expanded inside her, like a great balloon, almost bursting with emotion. She was driven by a throbbing, pulsing excitement. And then, as suddenly as it had come, it flowed out of her, and with it, her strength, leaving her spent and breathless.

He said, "You were cold. I can feel you trembling. Do you mind this Lucky? I won't, if you'd rather not."

"I don't — mind."

"It's funny. I did this, honestly, just to keep you warm. But I like having you here. You're sweet, Lucky." He put his face against her hair.

She held herself still, afraid almost to breathe for fear it would tear something out of this moment. Every nerve in her body was alive now, alive and sensing this, as one might sense an exquisite flower, a rare and lovely flower, that might never bloom again. She was still, and then moved by some compulsion beyond her reasoning, she slid her head slowly back and back. They stayed there a moment, the two of them, her cheek against him, her lips beside his. Then he turned his head, and she went swooning down into the depths and soaring into the heights of Thad's kiss.

For that moment she was beyond reason, beyond thinking. All her life seemed nothing till this moment, prelude to love. She thought, He doesn't love Di. He loves me. She knew ecstasy.

Then brusquely Thad released her. "Sorry, 'Lucky!' His voice was harsh. "I shouldn't have done that!"

He got to his feet. She stared up at him, dazed, not understanding.

"Forget it, will you Lucky?" In the silence they heard voices coming down the garden toward them.

Di called. "Is that you, darling? Guests are leaving. We need a guest-of-honor to tell them good-bye."

Lucky stood up. "Coming," she answered. With all her mustered strength, she went on, even infusing the words with a gaiety that sounded almost natural. "I made Thad sit out with me. I couldn't inflict my dancing on them any longer."

It was Pudge with Di. He asked suspiciously. "Out here? Aren't you refrigerated?"

Lucky lied brazenly. "No, Thad is. I made him give me his coat. I hope your family doesn't go in for pneumonia, Thad."

He laughed shortly. "No," he said. "They shoot themselves."

Aunt Diane was in the hall, bowing out guests. Her eyes went to Di's face in a quick demanding glance. Di elevated one eyebrow and shrugged. Worried lines made a double crease in Aunt Diane's forehead.

"Lucetta," she said. "I don't want to be severe with you, as guest of honor."

The dance seemed far away and unimportant, but Lucky said gently. "I'm sorry, Aunt Diane. It isn't that I don't appreciate the party. I — I got a little homesick for the Islands. That was all. I'm all right now."

Behind her, Thad asked Di. "Your father gone to bed? I'd like to see him tonight."

"He's around. I'll help you find him."

They went down the hall together. Pudge watched them go. Aunt Diane was watching them too. "Wasn't it cute of them to pretend?" she whispered to Lucky. Her voice had urgency in it.

"Pretend?" she didn't want to ask, but she had to.

"That casualness. It didn't fool me. I've been expecting this for days." She glanced at Lucky to see if she'd made her point.

"Oh, he has to love me!" Lucky thought. But if she had met him too late?

Resolutely she turned toward her aunt. "You mean—" Her voice balked there, but she forced it on, determined now to go all the way through with this — "you mean they're engaged?"

Aunt Diane nodded, her eyes softened, watching Di and Thad turn into the study. "They make a stunning couple, don't they?"

Lucky could hardly see them for the mist before her eyes. "Yes," she said dully, and then again, "Yes."

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—If the prospective post-war television industry hopes to make its developing art available to the largest audience, or as a radio executive put it, to "eighty-six percent of the people who would like to have a receiver," consumer cost of sets should be as low as possible.

James H. Carmine, Philco vice president, declared it was his opinion that table model receivers should range between $125 and $150, with the larger consoles not to exceed $225.

Pro Grid Combine Begins Training

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—Fifteen members of the Pittsburgh Steelers-Chicago Cardinals National Football league combine left here Sunday night with Assistant Coach Jim Leonard for Waukesha, Wis., to begin training at Carroll college.

Twelve more players and Coach Walter Kiesling will join the group at Chicago, and the rest of the squad will arrive later in the week.

MANDELL-BASORA FIGHT

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—Jimmy Mandell of Indiana, Pa., who fights out of Buffalo, N. Y., and the veteran Jose Basora, from Puerto Rico by way of New York, are matched tonight in the 10-round main event of the weekly fight card at Hickey park.

Argentina has more than 13,500,000 population.

19TH TRIUMPH; CARDS TAKE 2

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Paul "Dizzy" Trout, Detroit's righthanded pitching ace, probably will be the first major league twirler to win 20 games this year. In addition he seems a cinch to become the first pitcher in the American league to win 20 games in successive seasons since Bobby Feller of Cleveland turned the trick in 1940 and '41.

The hard working Tiger twirler from Sandcut, Ind., yesterday achieved his 19th victory, more than any other major league hurler, when he blanked the Philadelphia Athletics 8-0 in the nightcap of a twin-bill, after the A's behind Don Black's three-hit pitching, had defeated Hal Newhouse, also gunning for his 20th win, in the opener 6-1. The Tiger defeat in the first game ended a nine-game winning streak, one shy of the league's high mark set by the St. Louis Browns.

The victory was Trout's fifth straight and his 11th in his last 12 games. In 27 starts, he has been taken out of the box only five times.

Browns Split

The league-leading St. Louis Browns and runner-up Boston Red Sox divided the first two games in their "crucial" four-game series, the Red Sox winning the opener 7-6 in 13 innings, and the Browns taking the abbreviated nightcap 6-1, out to five innings by the Massachusetts 7 p. m. curfew law.

Rex Cecil, 27-year-old hurler from San Diego, hopped off an airplane and pitched the last four innings for the Red Sox, giving up four hits and no runs to be credited with his first major league victory, when Bobby Doerr hit his 15th home run with one out in the 13th.

Max Lanier gained his 15th victory of the season and his fifth over the Dodgers in the opener as the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals took two games from Brooklyn 4-1 and 7-3.

Rip Sewell won his 12th and Fritz Ostermueller annexed his 10th victory of the season as the Pittsburgh Pirates swept a twin-bill from the Boston Braves 8 to 1 and 3 to 1 for the Buc's fifth and sixth straight win.

Phils Win Pair

The New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox exchanged clubbings as the Yankees won the opener 10-1 and the White Sox came back to take the second 11-3.

The Philadelphia Phillies took both ends of a double header from the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and 7-6 before 38,576 Wrigley field fans. The twin-triumph moved them into seventh place, one game ahead of the Dodgers, who fell back into the National league cellar.

The Washington Senators snapped a five-game losing streak by downing the Cleveland Indians twice, 2-1 and 4-1.

The Cincinnati Reds handed the New York Giants their fifth and sixth straight defeats by taking both ends of a twin-bill 4-3 and 9-2.

Miss Germain Wins Second Amateur Title

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, who rapidly is becoming Miss Midwest of golfdom, may be the gal to beat in the All-American women's open tournament which starts a week from today at the Tam O'Shanter course here.

Lt. Patty Berg of the Marines and talented Betty Hicks are entered in the All-American event, but that professional two-some can worry plenty over Miss Germain, who breezed to her second straight women's western amateur title here last Saturday.

Dor's easy 5 and 4 triumph over Phyllis Otto of Omaha, Neb., in their 26-hole tie match at Onwentsia country club made her the seventh player in the 44-year history of the amateur meet to retain her title and the first since Mrs. Opal S. Hill copped it in 1931 and 1932.

Sunday, Progress here was one of the major strategic victories of the summer campaign, for the Germans had mounted massive counterattacks in futile attempts to destroy this threatening wing of Rokossovsky's forces.

Rokossovsky's army group was pressing north and northward on a 65-mile front from the Bug northwest of Warsaw. The important communications center of Lomza, Ostrow and Ostroieka lay within its grasp, and there are virtually no other large towns before the East Prussian frontier.

At the same time, a Soviet communiqué disclosed that the twin armies of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky and Gen. G. F. Zakharov, whose mammoth drive to outflank Warsaw on a 100-mile front has reached almost the entire length of the Warsaw-Bialystok railroad, had cleared the Germans from more than 180 settlements northwest of the Polish-capital.

FATAL UNDERTOW

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP)—Carmella Teece, 10, drowned at Wildwood, N. J., in sight of her parents. Unable to swim, she was caught in the undertow. Coast Guardsmen were called to seek the body.

Penn Marks Up Ga'n Against Villanova

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—For the benefit of baseball teams that are wondering where they'll train next spring, we offer this report from Oklahoma U., which recently finished a summer football session and will start again in 90-degree weather in September.

Trainer Ted Owen is struck on hot weather for conditioning because (1) players can be reduced to their normal weight faster and get in shape faster, (2) players can recover faster from "Charley's" and other injuries, (3) it is much easier for a team trained in heat to go north and play in colder climates than for northern teams to come south and play in our heat. (4) players who train in heat rarely contract colds. "They don't chill."

Interesting, perhaps, but the ball clubs will continue to train where Judge Landis tells them, regardless of temperatures.

YORKERS LOSE PAIR TO ROCKS

(By The Associated Press)

Wilmington held its game and a half lead in the Interstate league today by virtue of a twin victory over the York White Roses, 7-6 and 6-2.

The Blue Rocks, playing at home, came from behind to take the Sunday opener while the nightcap victory was featured by George Estock's three-hit pitching.

Allentown also took a doubleheader from the Hagerstown Owls, 9-4 and 6-5, but failed to gain on the league leaders. The loss kept Hagerstown in a fourth-place tie with York.

In the third league twin bill, Lancaster and Trenton split with the Red Roses taking the first game 15-5 and the Packers walking off with the second 6-3. Vance Polito led the Lancaster attack in the opener with five for five, including three home runs.

OPTIMISM DEPT.

Vince DeMaggio, who is having a slight argument with Owner Bill Benswanger of the Pirates over a $9.97 dinner check (the Bucs, limit is $4.50) says "if you think I eat too much, trade me." . . . Where does he think they'll find any takers since that tab became public? . . . Ben Chapman, who hopes to manage a Brooklyn farm club when his tour of duty as a Dodger pitcher ends, reports: "I've worked under Joe McCarthy, Bob Shawkey, Miller Huggins, Bucky Harris, Oscar Vitt, Jimmy Dykes and Joe Cronin. With this experience and what I hope to obtain from Leo Durocher, the next time I manage a ball club it should be better than Class B." . . . Wonder what Ben can learn from Leo that he didn't already know when he earned himself a year's suspension for being an umpire?

MONDAY MATINEE

After signing as assistant coach of the Green Bay Packers, big George Trafton sold his managerial contract with lightweight Willie Joyce to Charley Schuster of Hollywood. . . . And Silent Sam Lampe has sold Slugger White to Benny Trotta and will concentrate on the tavern business. . . . For the first time, all of the Naval academy's football games except the Army scrap, will be broadcast under commercial sponsorship this fall. . . . Ed Ray, the young Texas tennis star, will enroll at Andover academy this fall.

SERVICE DEPT.

Two of last season's Camp Lejeune footballers fought with the Second Marine Division at Saipan. Lieuts. Alfred Mannino (Towa) and Alex Leugo (Purdue center) led platoons into the thick of the fighting. . . . Roger William Smith, who rode some 200 winning horses on the west coast, is a Signalman 2/c shipping out from the New Orleans Armed Guard center and reports he gets a bigger thrill out of his trips to sea than he ever did from boating in a longesthopper. . . . A candidate for the Camp Ellis, Ill. football team is Corp. Tok Nishihara, an American of Japanese descent, who played for Long Beach, Calif., junior college.

Trainees Playing New Game, "Boxball"

State College, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—Navy and Marine trainees at Pennsylvania State college are playing a new and so far nameless sport—a combination of basketball and boxing.

The players don 16-ounce gloves and try for haymakers when any opponent attempts to dribble or shoot for the basket.

It teaches a man "to take a punch in the mouth," says Lt. Harry Light, former William and Mary athlete and now Navy V-12—physical director.

The Naval Air Ferry Command is now delivering about 2,000 planes a month to the Navy.

Naktenis Twirls Double Victory

(By The Associated Press)

Pete Naktenis, Hartford's stay-at-home pitching star, made his first road appearance of the Eastern league season yesterday and paced the Naurens to a pair of victories.

Naktenis, who holds down a war plant job besides his baseball berth, chalked up his 15th victory by hurling the laurels to a 3-0 shutout in the opener of a doubleheader at Binghamton. His relief work in the nightcap brought a 4-1 triumph.

Albany was forced 11 innings in both ends of a twin bill to beat Utica, 6-5 and 4-3, and remain within five and a half games of the leading laurels. Scranton blasted Elmira, 6-4 and 9-0 to climb from eighth to sixth place. Williamsport beat Wilkes-Barre, 7-0, and then played to a 7-7 tie in a game halted after 12 innings because of the Sunday baseball law.

Naktenis gave only five hits in his full-length appearance for Hartford and struck out 11 triples. He upped his record to 15 wins and 11 losses with two on and two away to save the game for Al Schacher.

AXIS PRISONERS IN U. S.

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—The War Department has disclosed that on August 1 there were 226,416 Axis prisoners of war in the United States. Most of them are working, the department said, in occupations ranging from farming to logging.

Pittsburgh Gets Relief From Heat

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—An electrical storm that plunged parts of the city into darkness and brought a sudden and gratifying end to four days of record-breaking heat struck Pittsburgh shortly after dark last night.

The Hazelwood section was blacked out twice when lightning struck 22,000-volt power lines. Electric lines were knocked down throughout the east end district. Two homes were struck by lightning and several large trees were knocked down.

The temperature, which reached 96 degrees, a record high for Aug. 13, dipped more than 20 degrees during the storm. Saturday's high was 97, cracking a 63-year-old record for the date.

1ST ROUND IN PGA TOURNEY BEGINS TODAY

By RUSS NEWLAND

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 14 (AP)—Primed and ready after a last day practice assault that saw old man par battered from pillar to post, the country's leading golf professionals swung into the title chase of the National P.G.A. championship today for the first eighteen of 36-hole qualifying play at the Marlin course.

The second qualifying round will be held tomorrow to determine the 32 low scorers who will remain in the running for the $20,000 in prize money. Match play eliminations over 36 holes will start Wednesday.

While practice rounds mean but little when the real competition begins, pre-tournament fireworks Sunday were spectacular, touched off by a hole in one. Ted Longworth, bulky Portland, Oregon, hit a 4-iron shot on the 155-yard third hole and the ball rolled into the cup as if the act had been rehearsed.

Christen Has 67

The Longworth special helped create a two-under par 70 but this was only an ordinary performance in the light of a 67—produced by Neil Christian, veteran Spokane entry, and 68's by a pair of Pennsylvanians, Henry Williams, Jr., of Roxersford, and Bud Lewis, of Orel-land.

Jimmy Hines of Amsterdam, New York, another Links Oldster, helped himself to a 69 and said he preferred to shoot that kind of golf in the tournament proper. Duration U. S. Open champion Craig Wood of Mamaronock, New York, contributed a 71 while Olin Dutra, Los Angeles; George Schmeiter, Salt Lake City; Sam Byrd, Redford, Michigan, and others who fired final training shots heaved to par figures.

The first and second tournament choices, Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, and Harold McSpaden of Philadelphia, who between them have cleaned up on most of the big events this year, passed up last day practice. Nelson is nursing a cold.

STRIKE OUTLOOK IS BETTER NOW

(By The Associated Press)

The strike outlook improved considerably today as the number of idle workers throughout the United States and Canada dropped from a week-end high of 61,000 to about 18,500.

Over-the-road truck shipments began rolling in eight midwestern states as some 25,000 drivers for 103 government-seized companies returned to their jobs. Ellis T. Longenecker, ODT federal manager of the seized lines, said the truckers would receive a seven-cents-an-hour wage increase, over which the dispute occurred. The raise had been ordered originally by the War Labor Board.

In Montreal, streetcars and buses resumed service with the Montreal Tramways company under temporary government control which sent back to work 4,000 operators who had been out 11 days.

Other major settlements were at Detroit, where 7,000 returned to their shifts at General Motors Chevrolet gear and axle division and 3,000 employees of the Briggs Manufacturing company reported for work; and at Muncie, Ind., where 3,000 Borg Warner workers were on the job again.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—If the prospective post-war television industry hopes to make its developing art available to the largest audience, or as a radio executive put it, to "eighty-six percent of the people who would like to have a receiver," consumer cost of sets should be as low as possible.

James H. Carmine, Philco vice president, declared it was his opinion that table model receivers should range between $125 and $150, with the larger consoles not to exceed $225.
